Riot Follows Killing of Man In St. Louis County Suburb

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP)—A shotgun blast fired from the darkness early today wounded three St. Louis County police officers who were trying to disperse an unruly excited crowd of some 300 persons in suburban Kinloch. A civilian was wounded.

The crowd was protesting the killing Sunday of a man by a Kinloch policeman.

Flareups of violence have been occurring ever since the shooting.

Nasser Selects Aide as UAR's Prime Minister

Arab Chief Wants More Time to Build Socialism

CAIRO (AP)—President Gamal Abdel Nasser has tapped his long-time political aide, Aly Sabry, to head a new collective leadership as prime minister. Nasser will retain over-all power as chief of state in the United Arab Republic.

In a radio-television address to the nation Monday night, Nasser said he wanted to lay aside his administrative duties to devote more time to building what he calls an Arab brand of socialism.

The speech was billed in advance as filling in details of the national charter he announced last May. In that charter he promised to broaden his regime through collective leadership, free elections and an equitable distribution of wealth.

Broad Overhaul

It was the broadest overhaul of government machinery since Nasser and his band of young officers sent King Farouk from the throne into exile with the coup of 1952.

Sabry was appointed head of a new Executive Council which collectively will assume executive power, Nasser said. In effect, this in the predominantly Negro community of 8,500. Both the man killed and the policeman were Negroes.

Fires Set

Fires were set Monday night and early today in several vacant buildings, a school, and a new home being built by the Kinloch chief of police as the mob got out of hand.

Police questioned more than 70 persons and gave three lie detector tests following the shooting. All were released.

A blaze in the home of Kinloch Chief Roosevelt Hoskins was extinguished before it caused serious damage.

But a five-room frame wing of Dunbar grade school burned out and there was no school today for 1,000 children.

Not Critical

None of the three wounded officers, patrolmen Billy Rushing, 33; Hugh Hodges, 26, and Kenneth Armstead 29, was critically injured. Rushing returned to duty. The others remained in County Hospital under observation. All are white.

Kinloch Mayor Clarence Lee said "growing unrest and even hatred" because of the killing of Darnell Dortch, 20, by a Kinloch

Murderer Gets Life Sentence

KENOSHA (AP)—A 21-year-old hoodlum who shot and killed a Burlington police officer last February was sentenced to life in the State Prison today.

Judge Urban Zievers ruled that Wilson Brook could not begin serving the life term until 1962, when he completes sentences imposed earlier for burglary. This means Brook will not be eligible for parole for more than 20 years.

Brook was convicted of first-degree murder in the slaying of Sgt. Anthony Eilers, who stopped Brook's car at Burlington to tell the youth a license plate was loose. Brook and a juvenile companion attacked the 39-year-old Eilers and Brook killed the officer with his own gun.

Issues Restraining Order

Court Blocks Barnett In 'Ole Miss' Dispute

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—The U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals issued a sweeping restraining order today prohibiting Gov. Ross Barnett and a large number of county, city and other state officials from interfering with the registration of Negro James H. Meredith at the University of Mississippi.

In addition to Barnett, the order names Mississippi Atty. Gen. Joe T. Patterson, State Commissioner of Public Safety T. B. Birdsong, and district attorneys police chiefs and sheriffs which the court described as representative of their authority throughout the entire state.

The order was signed by three judges of the Appellate Court. They set a hearing for Friday in New Orleans.

The order was issued on the request of the U.S. Justice Department, which only Monday pressed a contempt charge against university officials, leading to the promise by officials that Meredith would be registered.

Countermove

The promise of the officials, however, came in the face of countermove at Jackson by Barnett, who has sworn he will go to jail rather than see Meredith enrolled at Ole Miss.

The Appeals Court Monday gave the State College Board until 4 p.m., Central Standard time, today to let Meredith enroll.

Meredith planned to register in Jackson, where the board normally sits, rather than the campus at Oxford. This was part of the board's agreement with the court.

But even while courtroom agreements were being made in New Orleans, Gov. Ross Barnett of Mississippi was making counter moves in Jackson.

U. S. Services Begin Taking Cuban Exiles

Spanish-Speaking Units Formed in Army and Navy

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Beginning today Cuban refugees may volunteer for special Spanish-speaking units to train for service in the U.S. Army and Navy. Exile leaders urged refugees to join up.

The Defense Department, which announced the program Monday said those who make the grade in basic and advanced training will be given a chance to join the two services.

The plan was set up, said the Pentagon, "in order to assist Cuban refugees in this country to maintain themselves and to employ usefully and further develop their skills and abilities by service in the armed forces."

Full Operation

The program is scheduled to be in full operation at a number of cities within two weeks. The recruiter's doors open today in Coral Gables, just outside this heartland of the refugee colony.

Last week the U.S. government estimated that 147,000 exiles from Fidel Castro's regime have registered in Miami and more are arriving at the rate of 1,600 to 1,800 a week.

Sen. George A. Smathers, D-Fla., has estimated that there are 75,000 refugees of military age in this country.

For more than a year, the United States has accepted English-speaking Cubans for military

Guido Faces New Crisis In Argentina

BUENOS AIRES (AP)—Mass resignations from the powerful council of admirals confronted President Jose Maria Guido with a new crisis today. The air force, pledged to his support, ordered an alert of all units for new trouble in Argentina.

There were reports of pockets of discontent in all the services over the new military leadership that kicked out the army commander in last week's uprising. The rebels accused the army command of holding Guido a virtual prisoner while plotting a military dictatorship.

Brig. Gen. Cayo Antonio Alsina, air force commander, announced the alert at midnight, asserting, "There are other armed forces which at this time have not defined their allegiance."

Apparently this meant chiefly the navy, although the former war secretary, Gen. Jose Cornejo Saravia, remained a bitter holdout against the new direction of the Guido government.

Gen. Juan Carlos Ongania, now Guido's army commander in chief, who led the revolt, agreed with Alsina.

No Word on Prospects For Accord

BY WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Agreement on restoration of service on the strike-bound Chicago and North Western Railway remained stalled today by a dispute over back-to-work arrangements.

Negotiators for the railroad and the Order of Railroad Telegraphers, AFL-CIO met for more than an hour with government mediators, then recessed their talks until an undetermined time later today because of other commitments by Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz.

A night session Monday night was recessed early today with no word on prospects for untangling the dispute over a return to work.

A labor Department spokesman said the controversy, which cropped up late Monday, was over the question of whether the 1,000 striking telegraphers should go back to work immediately or be called back gradually.

Basic issues in the walkout, involving management insistence on a free hand in making manpower cuts for the sake of economy, have been settled by negotiation or by agreement to submit them to arbitration.

12 to 24 Hours

Federal Mediator Francis A. O'Neill Jr. said back-to-work agreements usually are routine, but have caused settlement delays in some other railroad strikes.

O'Neill said it would take 12 to 24 hours for the railroad to resume operations after a settlement.

The harvest-time walkout has caused problems in nine Midwestern states served by the 10,600-mile railroad, and Farm Belt senators have demanded action to get the trains rolling so that corn and sugar beet crops can be shipped to market.

Soviets Plan Major Fishing Port in Cuba

KEY WEST, Fla. Prime Minister Fidel Castro announced today the Soviet Union plans to build a major port in Cuba as a base for its Atlantic fishing fleet.

Castro, addressing his nation on television after signing a contract for the port with Soviet Fisheries Minister A. A. Ishkov, said the port will cost 12 million pesos.

The cost will be met by the Soviet Union, Castro said, through a "credit" to finance purchase of the necessary machinery to operate the port. It will be built by Cuban laborers with Cuban material, the prime minister said, and the nation will be compensated for this contribution by additional food shipments from the Soviet Union.

Castro said, however, the port actually will belong to Cuba and will be operated by Cuban workers.

No Survivors in Plane Crash

KODIAK, Alaska (AP)—The wreckage of a two-engine Navy patrol plane with a crew of 10 was found Monday. There were no survivors.

A search plane spotted the burned wreckage at the 1,900-foot level near the southern tip of Montague Island in Prince William Sound on the southern coast of Alaska, and directed a ground party to the scene.

The plane disappeared Saturday on a routine patrol. It was attached to Patrol Squadron 42, San Diego, Calif.

Crash Survivors Tell of Heroism Before Plane Plunged Into Atlantic

Service Men, Families Calmly Went Through a 'Ditching Drill'

LONDON (AP)—American servicemen and their dependents calmly went through a "ditching drill" as their Flying Tiger airliner plunged into the stormy Atlantic.

The heroic story of courage in the last fateful moments before the crash landing of the Super Constellation in darkness Sunday night was told today by some of the 48 survivors—44 men and four women.

Twelve of the 76 persons aboard the four-engine chartered airliner are known dead. Bodies of 10 men and two women were recovered. Sixteen, including two children, are missing.

"Little Hope"

A U.S. Air Force spokesman said at noon: "There is little hope that any more survivors will be found unless a raft is remaining afloat somewhere."

The captain of the plane—described as a hero by other survivors—said his crew of eight and the 68 passengers were brave and magnificent when he told them he had to ditch.

There was no panic and this averted a greater loss of life. Survivors aboard the Canadian aircraft carrier Bonaventure and from the antitrust subcommittee the tiny Swiss freighter Celerina told of the last minutes as the plane dropped toward the tossing waves 500 miles west of Ireland.

"Ditching drill, advice and the running commentary were given to the passengers during those last, few hideous moments before impact," a radio report from the Bonaventure said.

"Excellent Positioning"

"This was believed to have been given by the navigator of the aircraft whose position reporting, incidentally, was proved excellent. As a result of this briefing, survivors and those bodies recovered were all wearing life jackets."

The crew of the Celerina risked death to rescue the survivors from rafts in the storm-tossed Atlantic. One crewman was reported injured.

A helicopter from the Canadian aircraft carrier made 13 trips Monday "under the most difficult conditions"—a radio message said—to land medical supplies.

Steel Officials Won't be Cited

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Judiciary Committee squelched today its antitrust subcommittee's contempt of congress charges against four steel companies and nine of their top executives.

The 9 to 5 vote was a clear-cut victory for the steel firms in refusing to comply with subpoenas for detailed figures on their costs of production.

The companies — Bethlehem, Republic, National and Armco — contended that disclosure of the running commentary were given to the passengers during those last, few hideous moments before iman unfair competitive advantage.

Several Republicans Question Measure Giving President Right to Use Troops if Needed

WASHINGTON, AP — The much-impeached Mr. Khrushchev has approved and sent to the House a measure giving President Kennedy the right to use 150,000 troops if he thinks they are needed as cold war trouble.

The House shouted down several amendments and passed it by a 342-13 roll call vote Monday after several Republicans questioned the measure's worth.

Two Racine Men Get Five Years On Drug Charge

MILWAUKEE, AP — U.S. District Judge Robert E. Teran sentenced two Racine men Monday to five years in prison each after they were convicted of charges of possession and sale of heroin.

Sentenced here were 27-year-old Jesus V. Herrera, father of seven children, and Juan Bocanegra, 23, a factory worker. The men were arrested by federal narcotics agents on March 15. They each had a record for drug offenses in a group of alleged dope peddlers and users.

Bocanegra, a Mexican born in Racine, who has lived in the United States on a resident status since 1940, has been ordered deported by immigration officials. Judge Teran said that he would be deported after serving the five year sentence.

State Advised to Wait on Anti-Detergent Legislation

MADISON, AP — A state committee considering the advisability of legislation that would restrict or prohibit the use of detergents in Wisconsin has been urged to delay a decision pending the results of continuing research.

Sewage plant operators have blamed the foam and froth of detergents for added difficulties in the treatment of wastes.

Health officials and conservationists are worried about detergent components that resist treatment and remain in effluent dumped into streams.

Representatives of the Soap and Detergent Association met Monday with a subcommittee of the Natural Resources Committee of the State Legislature. The subcommittee's report is to be presented to the full group next month.

More Research
E. Scott Patterson, New York City, said more field research must precede the drawing of a line between acceptable and non-acceptable detergent products. Speaking to the committee, he said the industry's push to improve means no loading of a legislative nature. He said the industry was spending large sums to make detergents easier to dispose of.

P. J. Weaver, another association representative, contended that detergent wastes had raised no health problems and could not be held responsible for recent fish kills. He said the industry was not self-satisfied with detergent. We recognize there slow to deter-

Laird Opposes Use of Guard During Crises

Votes for Measure Approving Callup Of Reserve Units

Post-Crescent Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — The "surest" way to destroy the National Guard is to use it as a crisis-to-crisis weapon, Rep. Melvin Laird, R-Marshfield, told the House Monday.

The congressman made this statement in a speech during debate on a resolution authorizing the President to extend the period of active duty for current enlistments for an additional year and giving him the authority to call up 150,000 reserves. All members of the Wisconsin delegation joined with a majority of the house membership in approving the resolution 342 to 13.

Stressing that the resolution specifically states that those members of the ready reserve which includes the 32nd Wisconsin Division who were called up last year in the Berlin crisis would be exempt from recall, Laird said that this division as well as other combat-ready reserve units should only be used for mobilization in a national emergency.

'Real Guts'

"The real guts of this resolution lies in the authority it gives the President to extend the term of current enlistments in the Army and Air Force for an additional year if necessary," Laird said. Since the authority to extend Navy enlistments already exists, the Navy was not mentioned in the resolution.

He said those already enlisted and on active duty should be sufficient in number and strength to handle the many crises we will probably have for the next 10 or 15 years.

Laird said that as a member of the House Defense Appropriations Subcommittee, he had learned that the United States is strong today.

Can Deliver

We can deliver nuclear weapons from one end of the Soviet Union to the other, he reported. We now have 90,000 troops in the Army, 100,000 in the Marines and 5,000 in specialized or guerrilla warfare units. Congress appropriated extra money to train additional men for guerrilla fighting according to the Marshallfield legislation, but so far the Department of Defense has not utilized these funds.

The President needs the authority to extend the period of present enlistments in the Army and Air Force but he does not need 150,000 reserves in Cuba and Berlin," Laird concluded.

NFO Picketing Milwaukee Plant

MILWAUKEE, AP — Four dairy farmers from Sharon in Walworth County marched in front of the plant of Patrick Cudahy Inc. Monday as pickets representing the National Farmers Organization made their first appearance here.

John Hardt, spokesman for the group, said the primary purpose of their day-long march in front of an employees' entrance was to draw attention to the organization's protest. The NFO, claiming membership in 16 states, began earlier this month a campaign to withhold livestock and grain from market in an effort to increase prices. Some Wisconsin dairy farmers are voting this week on whether to add dairy products to items included in the campaign.

Rioting Erupts Over Proposed Arab Group

Aden Scene of Mass Demonstration on New Constitution

Chicago Daily News Service

MALINDI, Kenya — Rioting broke out Monday in Aden, British strategic naval and air base guarding the southern approaches to the Red Sea. Many were reported killed.

Left wing demonstrators battled police in an effort to prevent the colonial legislature from debating a new constitution that will link Aden with an 11-state British sponsored Arab Federation.

Police used batons and tear gas against demonstrators. The legislative session broke up when tear gas seeped into the chamber in a deconsecrated church.

A mob composed of members of Abdullahi Al-Azazi's Peoples Socialist Party (PSP), which opposes Aden's accession to the federation, burned the headquarters of the united national party which favors the link.

Political Arm
The PSP's political arm, the Aden Trade Union Council (ATUC), both organizations are led by Al-Azazi, a 29-year-old anti-reservation clerk.

Al-Azazi, who like most PSP and ATUC members is a Yemeni, was jailed for two weeks on Sept. 1 for participating in an unauthorized demonstration.

The terms of the federation grant Britain a right to maintain her powerful military base in Aden which guards approaches to the Persian Gulf. Source of 20 per cent of the world's oil and half of Britain's requirements.

Opposition to Aden's membership in the federation by no means confined to leftists is based on both political and economic considerations.

Aden is relatively well off with revenues derived from the British base, which brings in $40 million per year. Its port facilities which earn $10 million annually, and tourist spending which accounts for another $8 million a year.

The federation which borders Yemen has no resources and the governments of its states are feudal.

22 1/2 Million Miles Satellite Speeding on Way to Planet Venus

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — Two Earth-to-space signals are above months from today if all goes the atmosphere after traveling well U.S. space scientists will use another first—talking with a spacecraft over the longest distance yet.

On Nov. 25 the Venus-bound Mariner 2 will pass the 22 1/2 million mile mark, the point at which the now silent sun satellite Pioneer 5 launched March 3, 1959, stopped sending radio signals back to the earth.

Mariner 2 launched last Aug. 27 is scheduled to fly within 9,000 miles of Venus on Dec. 14. At that time it will be 36 million miles from earth. How is it possible to talk over such distances — especially since scientists sometimes have trouble communicating between points on earth just a few thousand miles apart?

Answer Given
The answer is two-fold. First, the earth to earth signals have to travel most of the way through atmospheric interference.

Each of the three stations tracking Mariner 2 cost about $5 million. The antennas at Goldstone, Johannesburg and Woomera can amplify the Mariner 2's signals 32,000 times.

At 1 a.m. today Mariner 2 was 4,447,576 miles distant, sending back signals that say all its instruments are operating properly. On Dec. 14 earth scientists will send signals starting a new set of instruments to measure electrically Venus temperature, atmospheric content and magnetic field. These instruments will operate for only 30 minutes but it will take 36 hours to transmit all the information back to earth in code.

By that time Mariner will be far beyond Venus and well on its way to replace feudalism with socialism.

Rusk to Warn Reds On Cuban Situation

Secretary to Meet Gromyko for Private Talks on World's Crises

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk was said to be for the United States to call the signals on both sides expected to tell Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko lending support. There are still today that shipment of Soviet arms and technicians to Cuba is causing serious concern in the United States in the trade with Prime Minister Fidel Castro's regime, but they are trying to work out a common stand.

The two diplomats were to meet at a luncheon in Rusk's hotel suite for their first private talks since last July when they conferred in Geneva during the conference on Laos.

The Berlin problem was high on their agenda along with the Cuban crisis in which the Russians have been taking an active role in recent weeks.

One of Series
The meeting is one of a series being held by Rusk with foreign ministers and other diplomats in New York for the U.N. General Assembly.

Western diplomats have acknowledged some disappointment in what they considered to be a Tchan who said he hoped to set hostile and nonconfrontational attitude by Gromyko in his policy. Spivey has been under $10,000 speech before the assembly last Friday.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson told Gromyko then that Soviet arms shipments and not U.S. actions were threatening peace in the Western Hemisphere. Stevenson was called in by Rusk for the Gromyko talks.

Leaders Concerned
Western leaders were reported more concerned at the moment with Cuba than with Berlin as a serious trouble spot. West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt is expected in New York later this week for talks with Rusk on the latest developments.

British Foreign Secretary Lord Home is expected to meet later with Gromyko, but Western strain

Full Story of Cuban Invasion Finally Told

Congressional Record Reprints Article Telling Inside Facts

BY LAWRENCE LAWRENCE
WASHINGTON — President Kennedy in his speeches likes to refer to his troubles—particularly Cuba—as having been “inherited” from the Eisenhower administration. Former President Truman says in his political outbursts that Mr. Eisenhower was a “lazy” president.

The real question is not how much time a president gives to golf or yachting or campaigning or social events, but how he uses the time he does give to official business—the kind of decisions he makes.

Members of Congress have in the last few days put into the “Congressional Record” a lengthy article that was published two weeks ago in “U.S. News and World Report” giving a comprehensive account of the fateful decision President Kennedy made when he first withdrew and then—when it was too late—actually approved of air support for the Cuban exiles in their invasion of their homeland in April, 1961.

Ever since that time there have been attempts to blame the whole fiasco on the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff or on the Central Intelligence Agency. But President Kennedy told the truth when he himself assumed full responsibility.

What hasn't been generally known, however, is how he came to make the mistake he did. The magazine article was the result of many weeks of investigation and research among official sources, particularly among persons who were in the know at the time. Certain administration officials have since conceded the accuracy of the article. It reads in part as follows:

Made Decision
“A fateful decision, made by President Kennedy on Sunday, April 16, 1961, is rising now to plague the U.S. On that Sunday evening, an armed force of Cuban refugees, trained by the United States, was at sea, sailing secretly to invade Fidel Castro's Cuba. The American president, a few hours earlier, had given final approval to that invasion.

“Only the day before, on April 15, a surprise attack by B-26 bombing planes belonging to the invaders had knocked out all but seven planes of Castro's tiny air force.

“A second air strike was scheduled for Monday morning, April 17. It was to coincide with the landing of the invaders. It was supposed to finish the job of wiping Castro's planes and to provide air support for the invasion.

“Secure in the assurance of air support, the invaders went ashore in the early-morning darkness of Monday, April 17. Their landing was successful: 1,400 armed men reached the beaches of a place called the Bay of Pigs.

“In the battle that followed, Castro's troops suffered heavy casualties. Castro's tanks, coming up to the battle, were sitting ducks for an attack by air. Confidently, the little invading force waited for its air support to arrive. Its leaders had assurance of that support. It was provided in the pre-invasion planning.

“Hours before, on Sunday evening, a small but potent force of B-26's was sitting in readiness on an airfield 500 miles away (in a Latin-American country), waiting to take off for the Bay of Pigs. Those were planes of the invasion force, with Cuban pilots. But those planes didn't take off. The reason: President Kennedy forbade their use. . . .

Invasion Began
“When the invasion began, in the pre-dawn hours of Monday, the need of air support became apparent. Worried, the nonmilitary officials in Washington who were running the invasion went to President Kennedy for a new decision. They suggested that U.S. Navy planes from a U.S. aircraft carrier be used to fly air support for the invaders. . . .

“In the planning of the invasion—planning begun under the Eisenhower administration—the U. S. Joint Chiefs of Staff had recommended the use of U.S. air support. President Kennedy vetoed the idea. He insisted that there was to be no direct American participation. Now, with the outcome possibly hanging in the balance, military and nonmilitary men joined in renewing the plea.

“Once again, in the early-morning hours of Monday, April 17, President Kennedy made a fateful decision. He said ‘no’ to the use of U.S. planes. . . .

“With no air support, the invasion soon began to run into trouble. . . In the face of this situation, President Kennedy took the wraps off the Cuban fliers. On Monday he said they could go into action. But bad weather interfered at first. Finally, an air strike was set up for early Wednesday. . . . By Tuesday night, April 18, a crisis was clearly at hand. Once again there was an appeal to President Kennedy. On this night the President, in white tie and tails, was playing host at a Congressional reception in the White House. He left the party to confer with his advisers—both civilian and military. Again it was proposed to use U.S. planes to save the invasion.

“This time the President relented slightly. He consented to using one carrier's planes for just one hour on Wednesday morning—just long enough to provide cover for the invaders to land some supplies and for their planes to make a quick strike. U.S. planes, still, were not to attack land targets.

Went Awry
“Even this limited plan for U.S. aid went awry. There were communications mixups. The Cuban fliers mistimed their strike. The U.S. planes never got into action. And anyway, it developed, it was too late. By sundown of Wednesday, April 19, the invasion was a failure. The invaders inflicted close to 2,000 casualties on Castro's forces, suffered only a hundred or so casualties of their own. But without air support, the invaders could not hold out. Most of them wound up as Castro captives.”

Criticism and analysis in retrospect by those who know the whole story is concentrated today on one point—full authority should be given in advance and a military operation should be handled by military men near the battle scene and not many hundreds of miles away in the White House or even in the Pentagon.

U. S. Services Begin Taking Cuban Exiles

service but as of last month only 90 qualified.

American Leaders

In view of this the Defense Department decided to drop the language requirement and set up special units probably to be commanded by Spanish-speaking Americans.

Officials said there is no limit, so far as they know, on the number of Cubans who may sign up.

The Cuban Revolutionary Council appealed to refugees to take advantage of the program.

The council, largest of the anti-Castro groups, said arrangements for the special training school were completed after a conference Monday between its president, Dr. Jose Miro Cardona, and Pentagon officials in Washington.

Another exile group Alpha 66, which recently shelled merchant vessels off Cuba, expressed support for the plan.

But the nine-member Cuban Revolutionary Junta does not approve its spokesman, Rogelio Cisneros, said the group "is in disagreement with the mass recruiting of the Cuban refugees and considers it a mistake."

patrolman, Israel Mason, 74, touched off the violence.

Mason, suspended pending a coroner's investigation, said he was trying to subdue Dortch and his gun went off accidentally. The officer said Dortch had refused to accept a careless driving warrant.

The officers who were wounded had been summoned to aid the seven-man Kinloch force in dispersing a mob that gathered at a drive-in cafe near the Kinloch police station.

Mob Chants

At times the mob chanted "We want Mason!"

Throughout the night, Kinloch volunteer firemen answered fire calls and put each blaze out, even saving the main brick building of the grade school. The fires, authorities said, were the work of arsonists.

The three wounded officers were among some 85 sent to the mob scene. Armstead is a canine corps officer and his dog, Ike, was slightly wounded by the shotgun pellets.

But that ended the mob scene. Officers separated groups of persons, mostly young Negro men, into groups of 10 and 25, questioned them and then let them go in twos and threes to their homes.

Town Silent

This morning, the town was silent. A few people looked out windows and some stood in doorways, but the streets were clear.

Five county police cars carrying 15 officers patrolled the streets.

The first flareup of violence was two quick shotgun blasts fired through a window of the Kinloch police station Monday. No one was hurt.

Also created, however, was a presidency council headed by Nasser to have responsibility for policy and over-all planning.

The Executive Council decisions will be collective and Sabry will be unable to act on his sole authority, Nasser emphasized.

In the one-party, Socialist government, a woman will be named for the first time to high office in this country of Moslems, who by tradition keep their women in the background.

Cabinet Member

Nasser said she will be made a member of the Cabinet and will hold the portfolio of minister of social affairs.

Nasser named no names beyond disclosing that Sabry, long his secretary of state for presidential affairs and his diplomatic trouble-shooter, would be prime minister.

Throughout the 90-minute address, Nasser, speaking slowly, stressed the nature of and need for collective leadership in what he called democracy for the UAR.

Over the next few months, Nasser said he would work out details of a new Socialist party composed of "all those who wish to participate in national work." The base will be workers, peasants and professional groups.

"There is a doctor on board the Celerina, thought to be one of the survivors, and he has sufficient supplies to tend the injured until their arrival in Antwerp," the Bonaventure said.

Body Recovered

The Canadian rescue ship said it recovered a life raft with the body of one of the plane's four stewardesses on it. She was not identified by name.

All the passengers were service-men and their families on the way to Germany.

Capt. John D. Murray, 44, of Oyster Bay, N. Y., the plane's skipper, praised the bravery of those aboard.

He said "we were able to get four dinghies launched" after the plane ditched in the Atlantic with three of its four engines dead.

"We could not have managed it the way we did," said Murray. "If the crew and the passengers had not behaved so magnificently—without panic."

The survivors, suffering shock from the landing, rode out heavy

U.S. military officials in London said the survivors included 42 military personnel and three women dependents.

Although little hope remained that more survivors could be found, the search will be widened.

A spokesman at Prestwick, Scotland, center of the U.S. Air Force rescue operation, said, "Planes will be hunting as far away as 100 miles from the spot where the plane went in."

Much of State's Corn
Growth Destroyed by Freezing Temperatures

MADISON (AP)—The frost that hit Wisconsin Wednesday stopped corn growth in much of the state, the Weekly Crop and Weather Summary said today.

In the eastern section, in a belt extending roughly 40 miles inland from Lake Michigan, there was little serious frost effect. In western counties corn in valleys was nipped and in southern sections frost skipped over or only lightly touched the crop.

In the north very little corn was mature, the summary said. Some northern fields have been filled with mud and not more than 10 per cent of silo filling is completed.

'Objective' Report From Cuba

The apologists for tyranny continue to rationalize.

Samuel Shapiro, in the history department of Michigan State University, wrote the New York Times about a trip he made to Cuba last month. There was supposed to be a ban by the Cuban government on travelers from the United States but "for some reason an exception was made in my case," wrote Shapiro naively.

Shapiro saw many signs of "suppression, mismanagement and food shortages" but also such "good evidences" of the revolution as the wiping out of illiteracy, and the continued construction of new homes, hospitals, schools and vacation hotels. He also reported that refineries, electric power plants and the telephone system were operating without a problem despite lack of American help.

Shapiro was criticizing particularly the Times' protests about Cuban press censorship. "Cuban control of the press is understandable. Many American papers have printed grossly inaccurate accounts of what has taken place on the island. . . Cuban censorship is in part a measure of self-defense against American economic, diplomatic and military measures. The United States continues to violate Cuban territorial waters and air space, to encourage acts of sabotage, to perform hit and run raids by Cuban exiles based in Miami, and to insist that it will never recognize the Castro regime. . . While recognizing the unpleasant totalitarian aspects of the present regime, it would be unrealistic not to admit that some of them are necessary. . ."

We couldn't agree more and suggest that Shapiro widen his statements to take in all totalitarian governments. Russian censorship is certainly in self-defense. The Berlin Wall by all means is necessary to keep all East Germans from running away. A strong secret police force is essential to sniff out plots before the people have a chance to stage a revolt.

If the criteria is whether oppressive measures are necessary for self-defense or because misleading rumors have been circulated, we wonder how Shapiro would consider some United States policies which have been the target of the left wing apologists. What about the U2 flights, the F.B.I., the nuclear tests in the Pacific and all the classified material holed up in Washington?

However, as long as regular American press representatives are barred from Cuba we hope Shapiro gets invited back again. He can keep us informed, whether he knows it or not, about the brainwashing and double-talk the Reds continue to exhibit.

Seat Belts are Comfortable

There is a great deal being said these days about seat belts for cars. Safety officials, insurance companies and law enforcement officers have been urging the motorist to install and use these seat belts.

Practically all of these admonitions stress the safety factor. It is pointed out that your chances of being killed are one-third less and that your chances of escaping injuries are reduced when in an accident.

Undoubtedly these points are the major factors to consider when installing seat belts. But there is a factor, generally overlooked, that might be a better selling point.

Seat belts are comfortable. Not only do they add to the safety of the car, but they add to the comfort.

This is particularly true on long trips. Seat belts promote better posture which results in less fatigue.

Drivers who have made long trips and have worn seat belts agree with this.

Most seat belts purchased are being bought with safety in mind. But the personal comfort factor is an added dividend. And it may save your life.

Foreign Aid Needs Attention

President Kennedy and many supporters of foreign aid who do not bother to look at all sides of the issue have charged that the cuts recommended by the House Appropriations Committee are "irresponsible" and constitute a "threat to free world security." But it has been the failure of this Presidential administration, and every presidential administration since the Marshall Plan was inaugurated, to present a carefully worked out formula and program that is to blame for much of the confusion.

Of course putting a program down in black and white is not simple. Barbara Ward Jackson, writing in Foreign Affairs, asked "what are the programs of foreign economic assistance for?" There are few Americans, either in or out of government who could give a clear answer. Thus there has been confusion, not only in determining the costs of such programs, but in applying the programs at every level. As Dean William Moran emphasized at the Lawrence College seminar on Foreign Policy, aid is used to combat communism, to keep some nations out of its clutches, to slow it down, to discourage its beginnings and to give help where it couldn't possibly come except by conquest.

In addition to this bewilderment over the aim of foreign aid, comes the failure of both other wealthy nations and the recipient nations to comprehend its importance. According to Mrs. Jackson's figures, only the United States and France contribute one per cent of their national income to foreign aid. Several years ago members of President Eisenhower's Cabinet began making public charges that Western Europe was failing to help as it could. Some improvement was seen.

Nor does President Kennedy's staff insist that the United States continue so much bilateral help. The President has pointed out the responsibilities which other free and healthy nations have. Presidential advisor George McBundy, also writing in Foreign Affairs, says that "the requirement of reciprocity is as important for friends who are unaligned as for friends who are engaged. Among some of the former there is a tendency to take our good will for granted and to assume that their special interests and prejudices may . . . be pressed against us to the limit. . . It is disappointing that a few men, themselves extraordinarily thin-skinned, appear to rejoice in attributing the lowest of motives to us. . . Neither they nor we have yet solved the new problem of setting the reasonable terms of cooperation for their development and for the common peace. . . Finally we come to what we ourselves may ask of all our friends. . . Of both neutrals and allies we may properly ask the same thing they expect of us: an understanding that we have a role and interests of our own." Mr. McBundy is speaking primarily of military and security arrangements but his words are also appropriate for the matter of give and take in foreign aid.

Eugene Black, resigning president of the World Bank, also stresses the importance of more help from other sources. "My most serious criticism of bilateral aid programs is their susceptibility to political influences, whether overt or otherwise. Even at best there is always the risk that political influences may misdirect development aid. I have known cases where . . . a splendid new sports stadium has been built while the highway system remains primitive, or where the national airport has acquired a strikingly modern terminal building while parched but fertile land is left without irrigation."

Also involved in the criticism of foreign aid is the attitude of the underdeveloped nations. Many of them take the point of view that continued aid from the United States is their right and they are never satisfied. Unrestricted aid also sometimes contributes to the neglect of their own programs and lack of effort in looking for private investment or sound financial policies at home. The Alliance For Progress has so far been pretty much of a failure not because of a lack of funds but because the Latin American leaders have resented the social and economic changes they must make to get the money.

The last and perhaps the major criticism of the aid program is that it has been wastefully applied. There is no question but that this is true. Whether or not it is possible to administer such a huge program without considerable waste and some corruption is not known. Certainly there could be a bigger effort toward cutting down the philosophy that anything can be spent because there is always more where it came from.

Mrs. Jackson suggests that "the fundamental aim of economic assistance is . . . to build up stability in unstable states." Dean Moran said much the same thing when he wrote that it was to make the kind of world in which peace is possible. We are no more enthused than Senator Proxmire about helping the Communists in Poland and Yugoslavia. But if their instability without our aid would result in revolt which we would not be willing to assist to victory, then the aid is justified.

The administration has recognized that all the foreign aid programs in the world will not help developing nations if we close the markets. Building up new industries in these new countries and making it impossible for them to sell their products makes even less sense than building sports stadiums and installing merry-go-rounds.

But it is no longer enough for a President sold upon the importance of foreign aid to claim that opponents are erroneous in their thinking. If the present Administration wants a large foreign aid budget and a good climate for future foreign aid programs it will have to do something which no administration has yet accomplished—demonstrate to the people of the United States as well as to members of Congress that the foreign aid program has a sound purpose, a reasonable chance of accomplishment and a minimum of cash dwindling away in sinkholes.

Discussion About Religion And Education Enlightening

Editor, Post-Crescent:

It was a source of satisfaction to me to find that many persons are more than casually interested in the questions I raised about religion and education. I have received quite a few pieces of mail and many oral comments on this matter. As I indicated originally it seems to me that a full-scale debate (community-wide, state-wide, even nation-wide) is in order, provided of course that all concerned keep calm and polite so as not to generate more heat than light.

Our beloved America is not yet 200 years old, a mere toddler among nations, and so it is not surprising if we still have many unresolved problems — among them, how best to promote religious knowledge and morality among our school-age population without entangling ourselves in the awful problems resulting from union of church and state as experienced by many other nations? Until now we have taken the line of least resistance, as it were, and simply exiled formal religion from public education. My prime concern is to find a constitutional, fair-to-all method of integrating religion with education at all levels in all schools, for all children whose parents so wish.

In reply to Mr. James Lowandowski, whose observations I very much welcomed, I would like to state the following:

1) Religion, as he says, is certainly "a reason for living" and if vital to a person it will permeate his every action. But precisely because this is so true, every youngster needs extensive, formal education in religion. A few minutes a week outside regular school hours will scarcely do, particularly if it is a hit-and-miss proposition, as it often is. Practically every other free nation has found ways to integrate religious training, according to parental wishes, with overall daily education. We have not seriously tried to do this as yet.

2) I agree that "the religious awakening of the adult population" is theoretically even more important than religion for children but it is axiomatic that people generally don't change much after they are grown. Let's try to be practical: children can be greatly influenced and directed and I believe the vast majority of parents would favor this, in reference to religious training, even if many of them fail to take the initiative.

3) Nothing in my original letter was meant to suggest that private schools are in danger of failing. The exact opposite is true, they are flourishing as never before and growing considerably faster almost everywhere than tax-supported schools. Parents and others supporting private schools (to the tune of $90,000,000 annually in Wisconsin, according to the Public Expenditures Survey) are willing to make great sacrifices because of deep convictions. Remarkably there has been no marked outcry for relief. However the citizenry at large should ask itself if it really wishes these people to continue to bear such a disproportionate burden.

Remember, the right to educate is vested by nature and by nature's God in parents (not in the state nor in the church). Are not American parents, who for conscience sake choose a religious school for their offspring, being penalized for exercising a strict right? In other words, if we can agree that this right is parental, then why should all parents be forced to see their educational tax dollar used for one single kind of education? Is this freedom? What would be

Looking Backward

Motor Rebuttal on Proclamation

100 YEARS AGO

Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Oct. 2, 1862.

The Crescent has thought proper to comment on the patriotic and law-abiding Emancipation-Confiscation Proclamation of the President in the following language:

"This is another epoch of war which has been forced upon the President by the Nullifiers of the North. . . We understand by this Executive Bull that our government is of itself incapable of putting down the present Rebellion. . . that it is a virtual recognition of the so-called Confederate States of America!"

This position of the Crescent, in itself, is not of the slightest earthly consequence. True, the political relations of that paper are such that it could, if it chose, contribute a desirable influence and feeling in favor of a beleaguered Government now struggling for its life. But that it should find it more congenial to its instincts to cling to a very silly and wicked Pro-Slavery fanaticism, when after it has become virtually treasonable to do so, its its own affair.

It prefers Party to Country, that is true. But as it prudently disguises its croaking enmity in the matter under a pretense of duty, and has for some time abandoned the idea of starting a "Civil War" for the former, our Republican sense of toleration enables us to hope the country will not have to retaliate.

It would be a wanton, unnecessary cruelty, even for the country to revenge itself upon so harmless a sheet as the Crescent.

All this is a very trashy subject, which we would gladly ignore for its very worthlessness, but we dare not ignore the fact that John Fitzgerald is the candidate of the paper for Congress. Nor is this all. The Crescent itself more than intimates that it is not the "acknowledged party organ" of the Fitzgerald Democracy.

This gives us colorable reason to believe that the Crescent is Mr. Fitzgerald's personal organ. If so, that will be the affair of the people of the Fifth Congressional district.

This is important. The ques-

Reynolds Has Trouble Explaining His Excise Tax Program Proposal

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — The Democratic nominee for governor has retreated in a significant way from his announced opposition to the selective sales tax act of last year, as well as from the Democratic state campaign platform approved with so much hoopla at Sheboygan only a few months ago.

Attorney General Reynolds now says that he would get rid of all the sales tax levies on selected commodities, except for autos, beer and liquor, and tobacco products.

The automobile tax, of course, was the most important listed in a revenue way in the new tax act. To say that it is unfair to tax a garden hose or a set of golf clubs or any of the others among the hundreds of items within the present taxable list, but to accept a tax on automobiles which are necessities to thousands today may be hard to defend, as Mr. Reynolds no doubt is going to discover as he continues his stumping endeavors.

Politicians have said before that one of the most unpopular of the consequences of the new sales tax was its tendency to push up the price of the working-man's glass of beer in his after-hours tavern. Mr. Reynolds gave a sidelong acknowledgement to that political reaction when he outlined his revised position last week, but he said that he proposes to keep the sales tax on beer because he is convinced the 15 cent glass won't come down to a dime even with a repeal of the tax.

THE REASON

These are perhaps strange rationalizations on trivial matters, but they serve to illustrate the practical problem the liberal Democratic candidate faces in un-American or unconstitutional about permitting any sizable group of parents to divert their educational tax to any kind of education their conscience dictates, as long as reasonable state requirements are met and loyal Americanism is taught therein?

Again I thank the Post-Crescent for opening its columns to this discussion which many persons consider vital to the common welfare.

(Father) John Feeney

the dominant fiscal issue of the year in state politics.

It was easy, before the campaign issues were refined last year, to denounce the sales tax as an infamous thing. No doubt it helped Mr. Reynolds to get his uncontested nomination.

But now he faces the challenge, everywhere he goes, to explain how he would replace $60,000,000 a year this tax is producing, and more important, how he will provide more than $100,000,000 more that is virtually certain to be required to bridge the next state budget deficit — more if the Democrats with their more liberal conceptions of public service needs are elected to run the state for the next two years.

Given his choice of position, it is not an easy answer for Reynolds to give. His own "excise" tax program, as he pointedly prefers to call it, would fall far short of replacing the revenue from the present sales tax act. He says that it can be made up out of additional yields from the present income tax laws resulting from "economic growth." One wonders whether such a guess is warranted, in the face of the tax department's current disclosure that the income tax is now producing less, rather than more, than was predicted in the usually cautious estimates of the budget bureau a year ago.

THE BALANCE

Mr. Reynolds' fiscal program paper, long awaited, runs to about 23 pages of closely written text. But it is mostly an essay on his tax philosophy, and a bill of particulars against the Republican position, and a recitation of his objections to present state financial arrangements.

It does not explain how the candidate would raise more than $100,000,000 during the next two years, except with a general reference to the personal income tax. In oral elaboration, he has said that he would not raise rates in the first several brackets of individual income. Where, then, will the increases fall, and in what way?

As a guess, the replacement revenue and the new money that would be required under a Reynolds administration would be the equivalent of a 50 per cent boost in the present personal income tax collections. There may be some doubt that this would be easily accomplished, even with the pay check withholding system which the Democrats feel is their shield against electoral revolt.

She and her mother, Mrs. Dan Steinberg Sr., were guests in the home of Mrs. Steinberg's brother, Sam Barry, basketball coach at the University of California and an athletic adviser to the motion picture industry. Miss Steinberg sang and played the piano.

Richard Williamson was elected president of the senior class at Kimberly High School. Gail Barrand was named vice president, Mary Van Nuyland, secretary, and Joyce Schlewitz, treasurer.

Janis Mislinski was elected captain of the 1952-53 Kaukauna High School cheerleaders.

Home on a 30-day furlough was Lt. Frederick H. Larson, Royalton. He was at Fort Leonard Wood, Mo., and was to report Oct. 5 at Camp Stoneman, Calif., for an overseas assignment.

New officers of Girl Scout Troop 23 included Diane Groh, president, Kay Lynn Wenzlaff, vice president, Diana Netzel, secretary, and Judy Olsen, treasurer.

Lutheran Welfare Workshop Studies Strength in Families

Caseworkers, Chaplains, Pastors Present Views During Discussion

What can be done to strengthen sick individuals," the chaplain the family was discussed at a pointed out.

Lutheran Welfare workshop Monday night at First English Lutheran Church, Appleton. The workshop was one of 25 being sponsored by the Lutheran Welfare Society of Wisconsin and Upper Michigan.

Included on the program were presentations by caseworkers, chaplains and pastors, a film and general discussion. General topic of the workshop was "Your Family Future, Faith or Chaos?"

The role of the family in preventing delinquency and emotional problems was stressed by speakers.

Harold Belgum, director of family life education for the American Lutheran Church, discussed "Faith and the Family." Belgum stressed the fact that the individual's relations with family is determined by the image the person has of his family, the relationships within the family and how decisions are made within the family.

Give Time

"Parents must build these relations within the family. In order to do this they must give of their time," Belgum stressed.

Three workers for the welfare group discussed the three major aspects of the Society's work: Child care, including emotionally disturbed children, foster home and adoptions; work with unwed mothers and chaplaincy in hospitals and institutions.

The Rev. Quentin Goodrich of the Home Home for Boys at Wittenberg, discussed the role that institution plays in Lutheran Welfare work. The Home Home works with boys with emotional problems.

Pastor Goodrich discussed how the Wittenberg home helped to solve problems of the boys by nights, beginning Oct. 2 for six consecutive weeks, from 7:15 p.m. to 9:15 p.m. at the municipal golf course clubhouse. Persons interested may register at the recreation office, registration fee is $1 per person for the six weeks.

Concert Season Announced by Oshkosh Group

Beaux Arts Trio, Richard Cross to Appear in November

OSHKOSH — Four performances in the musical arts have been scheduled by the Oshkosh Community Concert Association for the 1962-63 season. They are the Beaux Arts Trio of New York, Nov. 6, Richard Cross, bass baritone, Nov. 20, Stan Freeman, pianist-satirist, Feb. 4 and the Ruth Page Chicago Opera Ballet, March 7.

The first two performances will be held at the Raulf Theater while it is expected that Stan Freeman and the ballet will be presented in the new Oshkosh High School auditorium.

Memberships for the entire season are available this week only at campaign headquarters in the lobby of the Oshkosh Savings and Loan Association. In addition to Oshkosh concerts, a membership includes four Fond du Lac performances.

Ballet at New School

The highlight of the season will be the Ruth Page Chicago Opera Ballet extravaganza. With the latest production facilities available at the new high school, creative staging will enhance an already dynamic and imaginative ballet.

Miss Page has received honors here and abroad for her dramatic conversion of opera into ballet. The audience will see "Die Fledermaus" ("the bat"); and Bizet's "Carmen."

Miss Page brings with her a company of soloists and chorus dancers with full orchestral support.

Soloist Musicians

The Beaux Arts Trio combines the talents of three soloist-caliber musicians, Menahem Pressler, piano; Daniel Guleit, violin, and Bernard Greenhouse, cello. Together since 1953, this trio has established a remarkably fine reputation on both sides of the Atlantic.

In the one year since his release from the U.S. Army, Richard Cross, 25-year-old bass-baritone, has catapulted to fame in the world of opera. He has appeared with the Baltimore Civic Opera and the Vancouver Opera. After his current tour, he will debut with the Philadelphia Opera Company.

With the appearance of Stan Freeman, pianist-satirist, the Community Concert Association has selected a program emphasizing the lighter side of musical entertainment. Freeman combines great cultural works on the piano with jumping jazz. This he accompanies with a running comedy commentary.

Charlie Outwalks Autumn, Comes To End of Journey in Oconto

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

OCONTO — It's a long road which has no ending, but mine, which reached 125 miles, came to a termination in this pleasant, historic city at precisely 3:40 p.m. Monday.

I have, however outwalked autumn. It has not yet arrived, although the signs are present and are many.

Along the route I saw a flock of Canada geese winging their magnificent way to warmer climates and two times more I heard the big birds honking high above the clouds high above my vision.

Blackbirds are gathering in windy congress and the trees are pumping for their annual promenade. Now and then an ailing oak tree wears full, autumnal scarlet. Some maple trees are gay and red and others are wearing tinges of pinks and greens and yellows.

Sulphur moths and cabbage butterflies lie dying on the roadsides, their eggs laid and their own cycle at an end. Grasshoppers and locusts are making their leaps smaller and more sluggishly, and the woolly bear caterpillars no longer wrinkle their way across the roads.

The flowers of Queen Anne's lace have wrinkled into brown balls and the milkweed has faded to yellow and is tired of the long summer. Poison ivy is red, and grape vines and English ivy are urging their greens into purples.

Some Trees are Gay

Sunflowers are hanging their heads, which are heavy with seed. occasional days of clear bright sunshine, most of the long junket, and elms are unwillingly dropping their leaves. Silver poplars are littering the earth with their pretty leaves and every tree in every woods is showing its own special tint which is no longer lush green. Autumn has not moved as swift-to finish was punctuated with days of clear bright sunshine, most of the long junket, and elms are unwillingly dropping their leaves. Silver poplars are littering the earth with their pretty leaves and every tree in every woods is showing its own special tint which is no longer lush green. Autumn has not moved as swift-welcome as I made the long, last, happy stride at journey's end.

My trip was over though my obligations to this host city are just beginning.

I am unkempt and untidy. My shoes are worn out. My shirt and trousers are wrinkled and travel stained. I smell like a silo, a cow, and a Rocky Mountain goat and I am not pretty to behold. Nevertheless even in disreputable state, I am to appear at meetings of the Chamber of Commerce, the Oconto Lions Club and the Boy Scout Troop of St. Joseph Church. They will be sorry.

From my starting point this morning at the home of George and Jenny Bierstecker outside of Oconto Falls I moved through rain and darkness, but it was an easy march. Help came from the hundreds of drivers who waved and smiled at me and from the many others who stopped for a visit.

Jeannie Van Hefty of Stiles Junction invited me in for coffee at their home adjacent to her father's business place, Murphy's Packing Co. Jeannie, lituan haired and pretty, is a Murphy, indeed, a fair colleen.

Found No Hardship

And far down the road, her mother-in-law, Mrs. Clarence Van Hefty, and her pretty daughter, Mrs. Larry Delaage, had lunch all prepared for me at their Clay Hill Holstein farm. These last 13 miles presented no hardship whatsoever.

Mrs. Earl Bailey, also along the road, provided me with refreshments, too. And so did many farm folk who greeted me as I strolled by. The way of the wayfarer has not been hard. My stay last night at the home of Biersteckers was a happy one. Members of the local Sportsmen's Club permitted me to see their new firing range and to watch the prime gunners won 56 chickens and six live ducks. Shooter Thomas Douglass named his duck

"Charlie" and announced that he was going to have "Charlie" for lunch. All gunners are welcome and prizes range from bacon to ham. The shooting range is a recent purchase of four acres, graded to chickens Bing Moe's Oches-I would teach anything to any body. And I feel like singing.

Little Chute Boy Wins In Model Car Contest

Mark Reinholz, 14, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Reinholz, 1153 Taft St., Little Chute, has received a trophy as a national class winner in model car competition in Indianapolis, Ind.

Mark, a sophomore at St. John High School, Little Chute, won the regional contest and then entered the national contest. This was his first entry in competition, but he has been building model cars since he was seven years old.

for the grand opening and a free fish dinner will be available for the nimrods.

At the Bierstecker home, I met a visitor, 81-year-old Mrs. Annie Landin, who is sprightly and pert and still a dressmaker at that grand age. Mrs. Landin was willing to take a tuck in my now sagging britches which fit me when I commenced this journey but which do not now.

Lost 8 Pounds

Somewhere along the road I lost eight pounds, but it was not due to starvation. Too many people were too good to me. Never was I a wanderer better fed.

Now, here in Oconto, my host is an old friend and the former mayor of the city. Mr. Grant after a 10-day visit to mainland Urquhart, who has promised to let me have a shower if I will teach him the last verse of an ancient Scottish drinking song and which we started to sing together, long ago.

And—for a hot shower today, helped to clear some misunderstandings between the two countries in connection with trade.

Japan May Recognize Red China Government

HONG KONG (AP)—Efforts to bring about normal diplomatic relations between Japan and Red China are being pursued by the Japanese Parliament said Monday.

Kenzo Matsumura, who is also an adviser to the Japanese Liberal Democratic party, said he was very satisfied with the outcome of his visit and that it had helped to clear some misunderstandings between the two countries in connection with trade.

Your Problems Intellectual Egghead Gives Family Bothersome Moments

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: My wife is a fine person. She graduated from Radcliffe and reads nothing but high-class magazines like Harper's and the Saturday Review. She knows all about Melville and Goethe but when it comes to common sense our 12-year-old has more than her mother.

My wife can tell you the date of the Peloponnesian Wars but she can't remember where she put the house-keys or the baseball tickets.

Last week she got to yapping on the telephone and forgot the bath water was running. The tub overflowed and ruined the carpeting in our bedroom.

Saturday she was supposed to pick up our two sons at the movie at 5 p.m. She forgot which movie they went to. She drove around town for 40 minutes and then returned without them. An hour later the kids came home exhausted. They had walked.

What can I do about a wife like this?—Rope's End Father

Dear R. E. Dad: Train the kids to watch out for themselves. Impress on the 12-year-old the necessity of being a "little mother." Without giving the children the idea that Mom is the village idiot, suggest they not depend on her for too many practical things. Tell them "Mom is busy and has a lot on her mind."

DEAR ANN LANDERS: To put it in your language, I'm a four-time loser. I know this sounds terrible but I'm really quite a fine person and not nearly as shopworn as my history might suggest.

I'm under 30 years of age, have had two years of college and am considered pleasant to look at. I'll spare you the details of my four flops because I don't have the time and you don't have the space.

The present problem is this: When I go out with a man I feel honorbound to tell him something of my past. The minute I mention four marital failures I'm dropped as if I had announced I have galloping Chinese rot.

Do you feel I should keep quiet about my past, at least until the fellow gets to know me better? Or should I come right out with-the glad-tidings on first meeting?

—Opal

Dear Opal A woman is not obligated to give a man the names and numbers of all the players on first meeting. You should make it clear, however, that you have been married.

I don't feel it would be dishonest if you reserved the "details" until you became better acquainted.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please clear up something for us. My cousin was engaged in June. The wedding is to take place next week. Yesterday the bride's parents gave a reception in their home honoring the groom's parents, who live in another city.

I was very disappointed that the wedding gifts were not on display. My sister-in-law says it is poor taste to display wedding gifts. My mother insists it is done in the best of families.

May we have a word from you?—Show or No Show

Dear S. O. N. S.: I don't know how your mother decides which families are "best" but I know some fine people who did not display wedding gifts. I also know some lovely people who did.

If it's my personal opinion you want, I don't favor the practice.

A Lovelier You

Beauty Values

Lovely looks should be treasured for more than their eye-appeal. Of greater value by far is the physical well-being true beauty reflects.

By way of example, take a radiant complexion or a lithe body. Each reflects abundant health and verve—a vital woman. Her attractiveness transcends mere prettiness and wins more admiration.

Now consider good carriage. It is prized for the graceful bearing it bestows. But it has a more basic virtue, in that it contributes to your physical safety.

Poorly carried, your body wears quickly and your reactions slow up. You then become careless and a target of accidents. You grab the handle of a boiling pot without first grabbing a pot-holder. You skid down the stairs, or jiggle a tea tray.

However heavy your labors, you become less fatigued and less accident-prone if you make a habit of good posture, if you always stand erect and distribute your weight evenly on the balls of your feet.

When you carry heavy objects, keep the back straight and the shoulders relaxed; let your arms do the work. When on the stairs, place your foot flat on the tread and transfer your weight smoothly from foot to foot, throughout hold the body erect, or you surely will

The next meeting will be Thursday evening. Mrs. Kenneth Lang will be chairman of the social hour. The Rev. Richard Keller will present the program.

So do guard your carriage and your health. In turn they will safeguard your looks. And there's a real beauty value, if ever was!

Bringing Up Baby

HINTS COLLECTED BY MRS. DAN GERBER, MOTHER OF 5

Even the friendliest baby may suddenly turn shy at the sight of a relative or friend whom he's cheerfully accepted before. (Usually a passing stage around mid-year age.) One reason for this shyness may be the fact that baby has come to realize that other people are different from mother. Baby knows he can count on you... he's not sure about the others. Suggested help:

- Let baby study visitors from the "protective custody" of your arms. A favorite hold-toy will provide added security.
- If you tell cuddle-loving friends to hold off 'til baby makes his own advances, chances are he'll socialize sooner.

Shy babies or sociable ones... lap-sitters or high chair heroes... all like flavor surprises from time to time. Newest Gerber offerings:

New! Gerber Strained Dinner Appleton Juice, a delightful companion to the 6 other refreshing Gerber Juices. Delicate in flavor, it has just as much vitamin C as Gerber Orange Juice. One can provides enough vitamin C to meet the recommended daily dietary allowance for babies.

New! Gerber Meat Sticks. The perfect finger food for toddlers. Made from selected Armour Pork and Beef, and nonfat milk, they're high in body-building protein. Mildly seasoned for wonderful flavor... low in fat for easy digestibility. Serve "as is" or heat slightly.

"Play with your baby," say the child specialists. Aside from the fun of participation, 2-way games help teach baby the 3 big C's: concentration, co-ordination, co-operation. If baby learns to play with you, he's less apt to be shy when others want to play with him.

Have you treated baby to a Gerber Strained Dinner lately? Chicken Noodle Dinner, Vegetables with Turkey or Beef and Egg Noodles with Vegetables? They're tasty as all get out. Gerber Baby Foods, Fremont, Michigan.

The Art of Flexibility

When a suit breaks unexpectedly badly, reconsider your plan for the play. You may have to change your original idea.

South tried to get a diamond response from his partner during the auction, for then he would have bid a grand slam. It was doubly disappointing to miss the grand slam and then misplay the small slam.

East captured the queen of diamonds with the ace and returned a diamond to dummy's king. South and ruffs a heart high in dummy. Declarer returns dummy's low diamond and ruffs with his last low trump. He can then ruff his last heart with dummy's king and claims the rest with high trumps.

Daily Question
As dealer, you hold: S K J 5 3 H 4 2 D K Q 5 C K 1 0 7 6. What do you say?

Answer: Pass. You have 12 points in card cards and 1 point for the doubleton, but you should avoid opening a borderline hand that doesn't contain an ace. If your diamonds were A-J-5 instead of K-Q-5, you would open with one club.

Today's Etiquette

LAST MINUTE INVITATION
I, a bachelor, received a telephone call Saturday noon which was a dinner invitation for that same night. I accepted and when I arrived, I discovered that I was attending a dinner party of 12 people. I felt a little "put out". The invitation to me must have

DAVIS been an after thought or a replacement for someone who couldn't come at the last minute. Don't you think that my hostess should have explained this at the time she phoned me?

Louise Davis Answers:
Yes. She would have been more gracious had she been utterly frank by saying, "Bill and I are having a dinner party tonight. One of our bachelor friends has become ill and will be unable to come. Would you do us the great favor of joining us on such short notice? We'd love to have you and hope you will say yes." You would willingly have answered, "I'd love to come and you are doing me the favor."

SILENCE IS GOLDEN
I am to be married at Christmas time and plan to have a maid of honor and two bridesmaids who have already accepted. There is another friend whom I'd like to have for an attendant, but she is too fat. How can I tell her in a polite way that I do not want her in the bridal party.

Louise Davis Answers:
It would be cruel to tell your friend that you don't want her as a bridesmaid because she is too fat. She knows it, so I'm sure that any explanation goes without saying. You would be wise to say nothing at all and let her assume that she will be invited as a guest.

The Ailing House Steel Wool Can be Used In Cleaning

BY ROGER C. WHITMAN

Q I have a problem keeping my aluminum doors and grilles clean. I spend hour after hour on them. What can you recommend?

A: Aluminum cleaning preparations for doors, etc., are available at many hardware stores and aluminum window dealers. Follow label instructions carefully.

Or clean with fine steel wool and kerosene, being very careful of the fire hazard. Then wipe with a soft cloth, slightly moistened with kerosene. This will evaporate and leave a protective coating on the aluminum.

Painting Window Shade
Q: I have some tan window shades which I would like to paint white. Could this be done? What kind of paint should be used?

A: If the shade is a light tan, the white paint may cover it satisfactorily. Test a part of the shade (near the roller) first, with the paint, to see the result. To paint the shade lay it out flat on a table to clean it thoroughly (thorough dry brushing may be sufficient; if not use wallpaper cleaner, available paint and hardware stores). Then paint with any good quality flat wall paint thinned with as much turpentine as can be added for easy brushing, without reducing the hiding quality of the paint. Too heavy a paint will crack when the shade is rolled up.

Chimney Lining for Gas Heat
Q: We plan to build a new chimney in an old farm house up north and expect to use gas for heating. What type of liner is best when using gas?

A: The flue lining should be of fire-clay or stainless-steel to resist the acids which condense from gas combustion products. Special vent pipes for gas-fired furnaces are available. Be sure to use only equipment approved by the American Gas Association. A bell mouth flue is preferred for gas fuel. I suggest sending 15 cents to Small Homes Council, Urbana, Ill., for a copy of the leaflet No. F70 "Chimneys and Fireplaces," giving detailed information on chimney construction and vent piping, etc., for various fuel burning equipment.

Repainting Chrome Furniture
Q: I have a chrome breakfast set and would like to paint it a copper color. How can I do this? I would also like to paint the plastic seats on the chairs. What paint can I use so it won't rub off on clothing? — Lynchburg, Ohio.

A: To paint chrome, the metal surface must be slightly roughened with steel wool and turpentine (to remove any surface wax, grease, etc.) for better paint adhesion. Then apply a good quality metal primer, followed by enamel in copper color, either spraying or brushing on.

To paint the plastic seats, use either a vinyl plastic spray, available in a wide assortment of colors at many paint and hardware dealers. Or use any good quality latex paint.

Public Appears To be Staying Out of Market

Funds seem to be going into savings, not into stocks

BY SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—Stock prices have been moving in a fairly narrow range and small volume for about two months now. And brokers are beginning to ask: Where is the public?
The general public didn't panic after the stock market broke the economic and political uncertainty late May and June. Some of the taints. Most citizens may be fancier purchases stock owners waiting to see if business picks had planned to make with their up this fall and if profits increase, paper profits—while they still The public didn't panic during all looked like profits instead of paper the talk about an imminent recession—were shelved. Most Agree
But most of them agree that the public has pretty much stayed out of the market since its sharp tumbles. And the occasional flurries of buying—or of selling, like last Friday—are generally credited to the professionals.
By public, the professional means the newcomer, the amateur or the small investor who buys a few shares now and then, especially if they were bought well. Some may come into the market before the sharp rise in late 1961 when they think they can make and the sharper drop this year, a quick killing. More are likely to buy when they think a small profit, investment now—usually in some- thing they regard as a growth in price enough to be in the bar- stock—will increase in price gain class, or in a price range that fits more traditional notions of care of such items as educating the children or cushioning retirement.
So the public is attracted to rising markets, wary during setbacks, and downright standoffish after a real tumble.
Had Rally
When the market had its summer rally, brokers hoped the public would return. But a few buyers fitting that term showed up.
Most buying apparently was by professionals picking up bargains or sighting chances of in-and-out profiting on sharply fluctuating individual stocks. Or the buying was by the multitude of funds—mutuals, pensions, and trusts—with accumulated income to put to work.
Public apathy persisting after the Labor Day could be due to all after the stock market breaks of the economic and political uncertainty late May and June. Some of the taints. 'Just Newspaper Talk'

Pennsylvania Congressman Seen As GOP Presidential Candidate

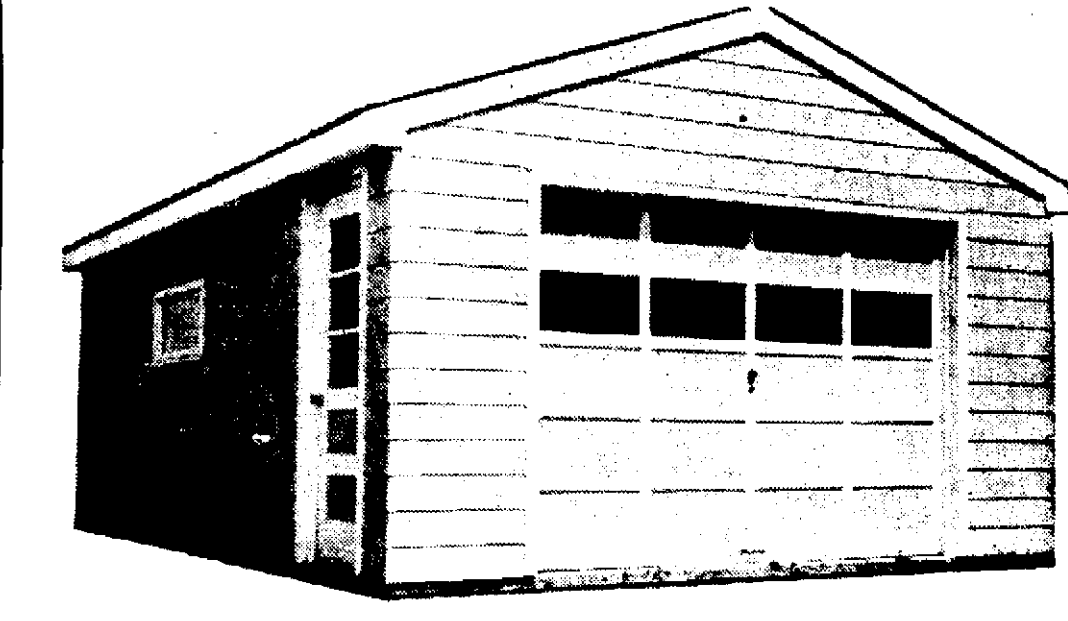

Chicago Daily News Service
HARRISBURG, Pa., — U. S. Rep. William W. Scranton laughs at the suggestion that he is a possible Republican presidential candidate in 1964.
He brushes off the suggestion as "just Washington newspaper talk," and it doesn't seem to be the traditionally coy response of a politician feigning modesty and humility.
But Pennsylvania politicians believe that the 45-year-old Scranton will be a prominent contender at the Republican convention two years hence if he wins his race for governor against Democratic Richardson Dilworth, former mayor of Philadelphia.
New Face
Like former auto maker George Romney in Michigan, Scranton is a new face in GOP politics. Although he was reluctant to run for Congress from his home dis-

Man Pleads Innocent Of Conduct Charge In Space Craft Hoax

WAUPACA—Lyle Bailey, 23, Big Falls, who admitted making an item to resemble a burned out piece of space craft, pleaded innocent of disorderly conduct Monday when he appeared before Municipal Justice George Whalen.
Bailey was released on $100 bond. The trial is scheduled at 11 a.m. Wednesday before Municipal Justice Whalen.
The complaint was signed by Sheriff Ray Abrahamson.
Bailey admitted using metal filings, pouring fuel over them and burning them. The piece of metal was placed on a lawn next to a Big Falls tavern. A resident who found it turned it over to Waupaca County Police. Abrahamson sent it to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration where the metal was termed a hoax.
Bailey called police last week as a joke but had gotten out of hand.

State Employees Want Parking Space Survey

MADISON (AP)—The Wisconsin State Employees Association wants a study made of parking problems of state workers, particularly at the new state office building being erected on Madison's Far West Side and at state office buildings around the state.
Also at its annual meeting in Madison during the weekend the association approved a resolution requesting a five per cent across-the-board pay increase for state workers in 1963-65.
Arthur Lemke of Waupun was reelected to his fifth term as association president.

Board Approves School Budget of $3,939,829 for '63

$3,217,515 Tax Levy Up 14 Pct.; New Administrative Post Planned

The Appleton Board of Education Monday approved a 1963 school budget of $3,939,829 for recommendation to the city council. A total of $3,217,515 will be sought from the property tax levy of the city of Appleton and its attached school districts.

The total budget and the tax levy request are up more than 14 per cent above the 1962 budget. In round figures, the increase over the 1962 budget is $507,000, and over the 1962 tax levy, $403,700.

New Administrator

The board Monday trimmed $19,287 from the budget, in deferments recommended by Superintendent of Schools Royce E. Kurtz, but added more than that amount in other areas.

The board made provision in the budget for an additional administrator in the department of instruction, and increased the number of teachers to be added next fall from 11 to 14. The board also approved $2,700 for brickwork in a glass block area at Lincoln School which has been damaged repeatedly.

Director of Business Affairs William R. Knuth told the board the amount included in the budget for improvements at school sites would have to be raised from $12,000 to $19,685 to provide for work planned by the Department of Public Works. This figure depends on council approval of the DPW budget, he noted, and may be lower.

State Aids

Knuth estimated that state aids will run $41,700 higher than provided in the first draft of the school budget.

The final budget figure will be adjusted because of changes in certain items since the first draft was prepared. Adjustment is necessary in such things as some salary figures and the travel allowance figure.

The board asked Kurtz if he expected any additional major budget items to come up during the year. He said that an additional person will be needed in the department of instruction to help coordinate activities on the elementary level, and that some decision will be needed in the area of textbook rentals, since present rentals do not cover costs.

Study Book Rental

The board provided budget funds for the additional administrator for one-third of the year, at an annual salary rate of $10,000. September would be the logical time to have him start, Kurtz noted.

The board withheld action on textbook rentals until a more detailed study is made. Kurtz said that present rental fees are insufficient to cover the multiple texts used in the schools and the textbook budget has been running at about $5,000 in the red. We must get a subsidy from the board, use fewer texts or raise the rental fees, he said.

Kurtz also told the board that in terms of instructional equipment and supplies, the schools have been "just keeping our heads above water." He said he later will present a long-range program to take care of some of the needed larger items, such as a language laboratory and science equipment.

Items Cut

Items cut from the budget included $1,000 from the high school commercial budget, $1,000 for relocating the high school art department, $12,000 at Roosevelt and Wilson junior high schools for remodeling of the home arts sewing rooms, $400 for furniture for the Franklin School teachers' lounge, $400 for air conditioning at Morgan School, $2,100 for blacktopping of the play area at Richmond School, $387 from the elementary art budget, and $2,000 from the elementary library books budget.

Mrs. George Munro, board president, asked that the amount of the budget increase due to at-

School Board Approves Bid on Cabinet Work

The Appleton Board of Education Monday approved a low bid of $4,206 for remodeling and adding to cabinets at Edison School. The bid was received from School Interiors Inc., Milwaukee.

The board also approved the contract of Mrs. Loraine Rueckert, a half-time kindergarten teacher at Twin Willows School, for the 1962-1963 school year.

Health Hazard Under Study Sewage From Township Enters Appleton Storm Main

The Appleton board of health is investigating a health hazard at the north end of N. Division St.

City officials have been informed that raw sewerage from the Town of Grand Chute septic tanks flows over the ground and into the city storm sewer.

The state board of health has been informed, according to City Clerk Elden Broehm, but no action has been taken except to notify the town chairman.

Broehm says the town chairman has taken no action to "correct this condition which is a health problem and a dangerous situation for small children."

A resolution is pending in the council to have the City of Appleton take immediate action to see that the condition gets corrected. It is being studied by the board of health and street-sanitation committee.

Buckley Proposes Early Tax Payment Sales Levy Credit Tangle May Delay Delivery of Appleton Bills

A resolution has been introduced in the common council to permit Appleton residents to pay a major portion of their estimated local real estate taxes and county the payment for 1962 federal income tax reduction purposes.

The author, Ald. George Buckley, says it appears that the City of Appleton will be late this year in sending out tax bills. The fault, can be blamed on complications involved in implementing the new state tax laws in connection with the sales tax and tax credits.

No Deduction

Should Appleton residents not be permitted to pay property tax bills until after Jan. 1, 1963, they cannot take the income tax deduction for this year.

Buckley's resolution would instruct the city treasurer to accept advance payments of all real estate taxes from individuals, businesses and corporations. He would then issue a receipt acknowledging that the payment is being credited against the payer's real estate tax liability.

Buckley discussed the proposal with City Treasurer Ray Feuerstein, and the latter recommended that anyone paying anticipated taxes receive a temporary

Reynolds Hits GOP Tax Plan Proposal

Charges Kuehn Trying to Hide Fact Sales Tax Anti-Business

NEW LONDON — Atty. Gen. John W. Reynolds, Democratic nominee for governor struck out at his Republican opponent's proposed tax plan for Wisconsin and the present tax system at a Rotary Club meeting here Monday night.

Reynolds charged his Republican opponent is throwing up a smoke screen to hide the fact that the three per cent general sales tax is fundamentally an anti-business tax.

"When the Republican candidate for governor attempts to peddle the completely erroneous argument that a sales tax is good for business he neglects to mention that his three per cent general sales tax would cost business men and farmers more than $40 million per year on their purchases of merchandise and equipment," Reynolds said.

Fewer Agencies

He also attacked the number of agencies needed to operate the state government. The present 87 agencies could be cut to 15 or 20 and conduct state business efficiently, he said. The governor should serve a four year term, because now he spends half his time campaigning, Reynolds added.

Reynolds proposed the elimination of the sales tax and said he would raise the necessary funds to support the state with an income tax. He also opposed the present property tax because he said a tax must be imposed according to the ability of a taxpayer to pay. The income tax is the only fair way, he said.

Wisconsin is not as far behind in industrial growth as people tend to believe, Reynolds told the group. We are ahead of Illinois and Michigan and still growing, he added. Joining the growth of industry with education, he said, industry needs brain power and industries are now locating around the major education centers of the country. This should be an indication of the need of continued improvement in our education system, he said.

The idea of raising money by taxing tourists is false, he said. To get the 7.6 million dollars that could be collected annually from the tourist, it would cost $11 million.

He also told the Rotarians not to expect a tax cut. It's impossible to cut taxes or even keep them from raising, he said, because as long as the population of the state continues to grow so will the taxes.

At the present rate of growth, between 20,000 and 25,000 more children are attending school each year, he said, and with this kind of increase there is no doubt why there is an increase in state spending.

After attending the Rotary Club meeting, Reynolds went to Manawa for another appearance.

Port Project At Green Bay Gets Backing

Byrnes Tells House That Harbor Should Get Improvements

WASHINGTON — A proposal to deepen the Green Bay harbor entrance channel to 26 feet and the Fox River through the city to 24 feet should be included in this year's omnibus rivers and harbors authorization bill Rep. John Byrnes, R-Green Bay, said Monday.

The congressman filed with the House Public Works Committee a statement backing the harbor improvement project.

The port is important to the Wisconsin economy and the improvements are necessary if the area is to keep pace in the St. Lawrence Seaway area Byrnes said.

Corps Proposal

A $4,270,000 harbor deepening project at Green Bay has been proposed by the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers.

Opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway has resulted in rapid growth of overseas commerce at Green Bay, Byrnes said, and the present harbor is hard put to handle the volume.

The $2 million Green Bay port improvement sought would provide a deep-draft harbor to handle the larger overseas vessels expected in the future, Byrnes said. Present channel depths for the Green Bay entrance channel and in the harbor is 22 feet. The depth in seaway locks is 27 feet.

Main Port

"Green Bay, the principal port on an arm of Lake Michigan also called Green Bay, is an important Midwest trade center built around its excellent transportation facilities, including a strategically located harbor," Byrnes told the committee.

"It has a wide variety of industries and the Green Bay harbor serves nine surrounding counties including the heavily industrialized Fox River Valley and parts of the Wisconsin valley. Located in these two areas is one of the largest paper making complexes in the United States," Byrnes related.

Campaign Ends at Press Meeting Today as Deadline Nears for Independent Candidate Papers

Appleton City Clerk Elden J. Broehm today withdrew as an independent candidate for Outagamie County sheriff in the Nov. 6 election.

Broehm announced his withdrawal at a hastily called press conference in Republican party headquarters this morning. His action puts a new complexion on the sheriff's race, where Donald J. Heinrichz, present undersheriff and GOP nominee, will oppose Democrat Calvin Spice and Independent Sgt. George Else.

Broehm, Else and Heinrichz staged a nip-and-tuck primary battle for the Republican nomination. Heinrichz polled 4,994 votes, Broehm 4,966 and Else 4,493. Both Broehm and Else had announced they would run as independents, and stirred speculation that the Democrats might have an excellent chance to win the sheriff's office for the first time in many years.

Pleasantly Surprised

Else was pleasantly surprised when informed of Broehm's action and said it encouraged him to go ahead with a hard campaign.

Else said his nomination papers were being notarized this morning and would be filed before noon.

Announcement of the press conference came from Republican party officials about 7:30 a.m. today.

Broehm emphasized his long-time work within the Republican party, and the need for party unity in the following statement:

"I believe in good government and the idea behind the two-party system of government and am an active working Republican. I have, after careful and soul-searching consideration, decided to withdraw my candidacy as an Independent Republican for the office of sheriff of Outagamie County.

Thanks Workers

"Because of the enthusiasm of my many supporters and workers this has been a hard decision. For their untiring work on my behalf, I can only say 'thanks a million', their efforts will never be forgotten.

"To the circulators and 1,500 plus voters who have signed my nomination papers as an Independent Republican candidate again, I wish to say 'thanks' for continued support.

"To my many Independent and Democratic friends and supporters also my thanks. I realize especially in county politics that friendships often transcend party lines.

"It is my belief that if we are to maintain our republican form of government, party responsibility must come before personal ambitions—therefore I have made this decision.

"May I urge my many faithful workers and friends to join me in the support of all national, state and county Republican candidates."

Informed of Broehm's withdrawal, Else said he still feels the voters want a change, as indicated in the primary election. "I am going ahead as independent candidate, put on a hard, clean campaign and let the people be the judge."

Deadline for filing independent candidate nomination papers is 5 p.m. today.

Heinrichz Pleased

Heinrichz was pleased with the news of Broehm's withdrawal. "That's a mighty big decision and Broehm has shown he's a true Republican by putting the interests of the party before his own," Heinrichz said the change of circumstances would not mean any change in his plans to wage an intensive campaign.

Spice took Broehm's withdrawal philosophically.

"I was surprised when he said he was going to run in the first place," Spice said. The county policeman said he "will have to work that much harder" but he feels he still has an excellent chance. "I want the people to vote for me because of my qualifications. If they don't feel I'm qualified, I don't deserve to win."

No Change Noted In Living Costs During August

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs remained unchanged in August at the record level set in July.

Prices for food, housing, medical care and personal care all averaged unchanged for the month. Higher costs for used cars and gasoline and for reading and recreation items were balanced out by the usual late summer drop in clothing prices due to end of season sales.

The Labor Department index of consumer prices was 105.5 percent of the 1957-59 average, the same level as reported for July. Compared with a year ago, consumer prices are 1.2 per cent higher.

Antenna Damage Aftermath

Youths Say Man Held Them Until Police Broke Up Scuffle

A 12-man jury heard today that Allen Kaufman, 62, 1228 E. Byrd St., grabbed two 14-year-old boys and held them until police broke up a scuffle at McDonald Street and Glendale Avenue on the night of June 13.

Kaufman is charged with battery. He pleaded innocent when he appeared in Outagamie County Court, Branch 2, June 22.

Drive Car

Kaufman had driven after the two boys, Marvin Satorius, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Satorius, and Gary Combs, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Foster St., and Theresa Agnon, 11, 1523 W. Eighth St.

Prizes of mysterious importance will be sent to each of the winning contestants within two weeks.

Kaufman said he was held around the neck by Kaufman and fell to the ground with Kaufman on top of him.

Combs said Kaufman grabbed his arm but he was able to free himself. Combs said policemen broke up the scuffle.

Marvin grabbed the pole and became stuck to it by a current of electricity which held him fast until Gary tackled the youth and knocked the pole from his hands.

The boys said, The pole was bent in double and the youths ran with Kaufman following.

Kaufman told police he had wired the pole with house current because the pole had been knocked down several times. The current turned on automatically at 10:30 p.m. and went off at 4 a.m.

Both youths testified today they were chased by Kaufman and caught and held at the corner.

Satorius said he was held around the neck by Kaufman and fell to the ground with Kaufman on top of him.

Combs said Kaufman grabbed his arm but he was able to free himself. Combs said policemen broke up the scuffle.

The trial is continuing today.

Prices Rise on Stock Market

Trading Heavy as Wall Street Notes Some Large Gains

NEW YORK (AP)—Steels, aerospace issues, and some of the "growth" stocks led the stock market out of a further decline early this afternoon. Trading was heavy as prices moved unevenly higher.

After three days of sharp decline, the market headed downward again shortly after the opening. An early attempt at a rally failed but a second buying drive took hold.

Brokers saw the movement as chiefly technical. Gains of fractions to about a point among steels and other key issues outnumbered losers in the same range.

Although there was a slight increase in weekly steel production, Wall Streeters were inclined to minimize it as a sign of industry recovery. Reports were that orders are still sluggish and that this may be the lowest production year since strikebound 1959.

In steel shares, however, are far down from their 1962 highs and seemed to be buys among some traders and investors. Falling to reflect the afternoon upturn, the Associated Press average at noon was off .9 at 218.9, with industrials down 1.0, rails down .3, and utilities down .8. U.S. Steel and Jones & Laughlin, both down 30 points or so from their highs of the year, advanced a point or more. "The market is acting true to form," said one broker, commenting on the technical nature of the bounceback from heavy selling of recent sessions.

The news background contained nothing inspirational. Fractional gains were made by Boeing, Douglas Aircraft, Lockheed and United Aircraft.

The Dow Jones industrial average at noon was up 1.26 at 584.17.

Pension Fund Bill Passes House Test

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House passed today a compromise bill to grant self-employed persons tax advantages on personal pension funds. The vote was 361-0.

The measure now goes to the Senate. If it is approved there, however, it still faces uncertainty. There has been speculation President Kennedy may veto it, although sponsors said during House debate today that Treasury estimates of its cost in lost revenues are excessive.

The bill, as redesigned by a Senate-House conference committee last week, is estimated to cost the Treasury $115 million a year in revenue and potentially to benefit as many as 7 million self-employed persons such as those who benefit some 11 million employees of such persons.

The bill would allow deduction from taxable income of one-half the amount invested in a pension fund up to a maximum of $2,500 annually—so that $1,250 would be tax free. Self-employed persons who employ others would have to provide a pension plan for such employees in order to take advantage of the tax deduction for themselves.

Driver Turns Self In After Hitting Girl

A 29-year-old Appleton man surrendered to the Outagamie County sheriff's department Monday afternoon. He said he had struck an 11-year-old girl with his car and drove away.

Vernon T. Jesse, 2530 N. Lynndale Drive admitted to officials he struck Patricia Ann Livingston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Livingston Jr., 2108 N. Lynndale Drive, while the girl was on her bicycle near her home. Jesse said the girl was riding on the shoulder of the road but pulled suddenly onto the blacktop and his car struck her.

Jesse said he was frightened and drove away without getting out of the car. The accident occurred about 3:45 p.m. and Jesse reported the incident about one hour later. He is being held in the Outagamie County jail without bond.

Miss Livingston received injuries to her back and legs and was examined by a doctor at her home. She was taken to Appleton Memorial Hospital today for X-rays.

Man Admits He Bought Beer for Minor Girl, 17

A 27-year-old man who turned himself in at the Appleton police station Friday on a warrant which charged him with contributing to the delinquency of a minor pleaded guilty to the charge in Outagamie County Court, Branch 2 Monday.

Thomas Lom, 1128 W. Lawrence St., admitted he was with a 17-year-old girl in an Appleton tavern Sept. 13 and was buying beer with her. The warrant for his arrest was made Sept. 13 when the couple was seen and reported to officials.

Judge Gustave Keller ordered the case continued until Wednesday for a pre-sentence investigation. Lom is being held in the Outagamie County jail without bond.

Susan Tjernland, 18, 806 N. Meade St., who was 17 at the time of the offense, has been charged with loitering in a tavern. She pleaded guilty Friday and Judge Keller continued the case until Monday, then set sentencing for Wednesday.

Some of these are not filled to capacity and enrollments are still being accepted at the school office.

Dr. Alan Townsend Will Address VOMA

The Valley Office Management Association will have its first meeting of the season at 630 p.m. Thursday evening at the Appleton Elks Club.

The speaker will be Dr. Alan Townsend of the Townsend Community Guidance Center. His topic will be "Motivating the Office Employee".

$3,939,829 School Budget Gets Approval

Attachments be determined as much as is possible. Kurtz said that this is difficult to do exactly because a number of children from attached areas have been absorbed into city schools, and suggested that the estimate be made on a per pupil basis. The board learned last week that it will cost $181,000 more than this year to operate the five attached school buildings.

The school district will receive $112,000 in "gravy" from the attached areas next year that will not come in in later years. Knuth noted. This will include $72,000 in tuition money and about $40,000 in back tax levy for 1962 operating expenses.

11 More Teachers

The first draft of the budget included provision for 11 additional teachers next fall, but Kurtz recommended that this be increased to 14. Enrollment predictions for next year show an estimated increase of 350 pupils, he said.

The board received an expense budget summary of the first draft of the budget which pointed out that 90.29 per cent of the total budget is committed. The major committed item is salaries, which make up 80.5 per cent of the total.

Based on the first draft, the tax rate per $1,000 of equalized valuation would be $10.66. The proportionate share of the tax levy that the city and the attached districts will pay is based on equalized valuation because the assessment percentage varies in each district, but the actual tax rate for each district is based on assessed valuation. The 1962 school tax rate in Appleton, which makes up the major portion of the newly reorganized district, was $21.50 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

The equalized valuation for the school district has increased 14 per cent over last year, and the public school enrollment has increased 12 per cent. Based on the first draft, the expense budget was up 14.68 per cent and the proposed school tax levy 14.22 per cent.

Crossing Guards Assume Duties

KIMBERLY—Five adult school crossing guards were sworn in Monday by Quentin Williams, chief of police. The men will be on duty each day when children attend or leave school.

Parents are requested to instruct children to cross streets where guards are stationed. Guards are stationed on Kimberly Avenue at Willow, Pine, Maple and Main streets and on Maple and First streets.

Guards are Andrew De Leeuw, Henry Vanden Boogaard, Adrian Van Drunen, George Rooyackers and Peter Rietveld.

Opening of Art Classes Delayed

KAUKAUNA — Opening of fall and winter art classes, sponsored by the recreation department, has been postponed until Oct. 6 thus giving time for additional enrollments to provide better balance in classes, according to Mrs. Roger Belling, instructor. Classes were originally to get underway Sept. 22. Enrollments will be accepted the remainder of this month in the high school group which will meet after school on Thursdays, the intermediate group which will meet at 10 a.m. Saturdays, the primary group which will meet at 1 p.m. Saturdays and the upper group which will meet at 3 p.m. on Saturdays. Enrollment can be made by contacting the instructor.

Two Injured In Collision

A collision at U.S. 41 and the Spencer Road sent two persons to Appleton Memorial Hospital about 12:15 p.m. Monday.

Treated for cuts and released was Carl F. Rohloff, 40, route 3, Appleton, driver of a truck which was struck when it crossed 41 from Spencer Road. In good condition at the hospital with cuts and bruises is Marvin W. Maser, 25, of Milwaukee. Maser was going south on 41 when the accident occurred.

Cherkasky Fined $2,500, Given 30 Days

MILWAUKEE (AP)—A 68-year-old Appleton businessman was sentenced in U.S. District Court today to serve 30 days in the House of Correction and was fined $2,500 on 25 counts of evading Social Security and employee withholding tax regulations. Ben Cherkasky, president and treasurer of the Quaker Dairy Co., had pleaded no contest to the charges, which involved quarterly returns for some 20 employees between April, 1956, and December, 1959.

Liston Favored Over Floyd In History's Richest Fight

Patterson Defends Title Tonight

BY JERRY LISKA
CHICAGO (AP) — The richest fight in ring history, a $5 million electronic age spectacle, tonight unleashes underdog heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson against surly challenger Charles (Sonny) Liston for the world title.

In a Comiskey Park setting — merely a backdrop for a tremendous closed circuit TV show worth upwards of $4 million — an outwheeled Patterson may be taking on the toughest foe in his 41-bout pro career beginning at 8:30 p.m., EST.

Weather predictions were favorable, calling for fair, cool climate with temperatures in the 40's.

As prefight preparations were climaxed with a 10:30 a.m. EST., official weighing, Liston's long-established favoritism still held at 7-5. It was expected Patterson would scale around 190 pounds, spotting some 23 to Liston, likely to weigh around 213.

A crowd of 35,000 was expected.

Radio, Television Programming Set

Tonight's Patterson-Liston bout can be seen on closed-circuit television at Green Bay's Brown County Arena and can be heard on radio station WJAM.

Programming on WJAM will begin at 8:30 p.m. with a history of boxing. The station will join the ABC network at 9:05, and the bout is scheduled to start at 9:30.

Tickets in all price ranges will be available at the arena. TV programming starts at 9 p.m. A new, 16 by 25-foot screen has been installed in the arena, and a new projector will also be used.

49ers Trade Thomas for Bobby Gaiters

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Giants sent halfback Bobby Gaiters to the San Francisco 49ers Monday in a National Football League trade for offensive end Aaron Thomas.

Gaiters, from New Mexico State in his second year in the NFL, last season he gained 487 yards in 116 carries and scored seven touchdowns. Thomas, also a second-year man, is from Oregon State. He caught 15 passes for 301 yards and two touchdowns last year.

No cash changed hands in the transaction.

Plum's Quick Passing Leads Lion Offense

Colts and Van Brocklin carried the Philadelphia Eagles to National Football League championships in the past few years.

"Most quarterbacks need four seconds to get the ball away," Forte said. "At least that long. So with the linebackers red-dogging and shooting the gap the way they do nowadays, the quarterback is in trouble if he doesn't get the ball off fast."

Because of Plum's quick trigger, linebackers charging through the line have dumped him for losses only five times in two games. He has connected with his target on 37 of his 52 passes.

"This is the advantage of a short passer like Plum," Forte said. "The receiver gets out and the ball is at him before the defense can get set."

"I don't say Plum gets the ball off in three seconds every time. But he does it enough to take advantage of his blockers, who know he can do it."

Line Coach Says Milt Gets Ball Away in 3 Seconds

DETROIT (AP) — It takes about three seconds to read this paragraph and understand its meaning.

And in pro football, that's all the time a top-flight passer needs to take the snap from center and get the ball airborne.

"Not many of them can do it," Aldo Forte, the Lions' offensive line coach, said today. "Milt Plum can and that's why our offensive line has been improved this year."

A porous line has been one of the reasons cited for the Lions' inability to move on offense in recent years. Only one newcomer is in the line this year and in two games the Lions have amassed 90 points. Bob Whitlow has taken over at center with Bob Scholtz moving to tackle.

"The quarterback is the reason why the line is better," Forte said. "Plum gets the ball and passes in those three seconds. He gets the ball away quicker, so the linemen don't have to hold their blocks as long."

Unitas Can Do It

"Three seconds—the only other quarterback in the league who can do it is Johnny Unitas. Norm Van Brocklin could do it, too, when he was a player."

Forte feels it's no coincidence that Unitas led the Baltimore

Packers' Jordan Calls Pride Key to Club's Tough Defense

Kaukauna Football Team Honored by Lions Club

BY JIM HARP
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

KAUKAUNA — "Pride is the main reason the Packer defense is doing so well," Henry Jordan, second from right, told the 27th annual Lions Club banquet for the Kaukauna

High School football team Monday night.

Over 150 Lions, school officials and athletes attended the program held at the Elks Club.

Jordan, one of the main cogs in Green Bay's defensive front line, was about as timely a guest speaker as could be asked for after his outstanding game against the St. Louis Cardinals. However, just as he did after the game, Jordan was quick to push off any praise to the other members of the unit.

"If you get a lot of tackles it means the opposition is running through your hole so they figure you're the weakest link in the defense," Hank said with half a smile on his face.

Jordan, who was drafted by the Cleveland Browns in 1957, compared himself to linebacker Ray Nitschke in this manner:

"When Nitschke is on the football field he is the meanest man there is. When he can't find anyone else to hit, sometimes he hits me. Myself, I try to avoid looking for trouble."

Someone asked what would happen if and when the Packers lose a game. Jordan replied that the team doesn't think about losing out made his point when he referred to a saying Coach Vince Lombardi has: "Losing is not so bad, but you better not lose."

Jordan cautioned the high school athletes about paying attention to their studies. He cited the importance of getting good marks in high school to assure themselves of a chance at a top notch college education.

Hank pointed out that now that he is playing professional football he finds himself doing more actual studying then when he was in college classes.

Cliff Kemp, of the Thilmany Pulp and Paper Company, served as toastmaster for the affair.

The Neenah and Appleton High School cross country teams will meet Friday afternoon at Pierce Park in a dual meet that was postponed last Friday because of rain.

Dodgers Will Start Roebuck in Effort To Increase Lead

Yankees Send Ford Against Nats in Search of AL Flag

BY MIKE RATHET
It'll be wily Whitey Ford on the mound tonight when the New York Yankees take on Washington in an attempt to clinch their 12th American League pennant in the last 14 years and set up the first coast-to-coast World Series in baseball history.

Meanwhile, 3,000 miles away, the National League-leading Los Angeles Dodgers will go with relief specialist Ed Roebuck in a bold bid to increase their three-game edge over the second-place San Francisco Giants.

Ford, who has posted an impressive 16-8 record despite off-and-on arm trouble, will face the Senators' Bennie Daniels (7-15), and can nail the Yankees' 27th AL pennant if he wins no matter what second-place Minnesota does against Cleveland. At the same time, a Minnesota loss would eliminate the Twins regardless of what the Yankees do.

The Twins will start Camilo Pascual (19-10) in an effort to stay in the race should the Yankees' falter. Minnesota is 4 1/2 games behind with four remaining to play. New York has five games left. Pascual will be opposed by Pedro Ramos (9-12).

Roebuck (10-0), the undefeated relief ace who had a dead arm in the spring, was the surprise choice for the Dodgers as they prepared to tackle Houston and former teammate Dick Farrell (9-19) while trying to set up their first pennant-clinching since 1959.

The Dodgers lead the Giants by three with six games remaining for each contender. Any combination of four Los Angeles victories or San Francisco defeats will give the Dodgers the NL flag.

The Giants will be at home to St. Louis, starting veteran Billy Pierce (14-6) against the Cardinals' Ernie Broglio (11-8).

Only one game was scheduled Monday night. In that, Kansas City defeated Baltimore 5-2.

The A's scored first in the fourth, getting three runs off Jack Fisher (7-9) on singles by Jose Tartabull, Ed Charles and Norm Siebern, a bases-loaded walk to Johnny Wojcik and a wild pitch. Siebern scored Kansas City's second run in the sixth, then closed out the scoring in the eighth with his 24th homer. The Orioles, held to five hits by Ed Rakow (14-16), picked up runs in the fifth on a double by Bob Saverine and Jerry Adair's single and in the sixth when Brooks Robinson tripled and Jim Gentile hit a sacrifice fly.

Spahn Attempts To Annex 326th Victory Tonight

Braves Hurler Can Tie Eddie Plank As Top Winning Lefty

MILWAUKEE (AP) — This shapes up as Warren Spahn week at Milwaukee County Stadium as the Milwaukee Braves' veteran left-hander sets out to see what he can do about another baseball record.

After an open date Monday, the Braves return to action tonight against the New York Mets and Spahn will be after the 326th victory of his career.

Success would mean he would tie the record of Eddie Plank, the winningest southpaw pitcher in history of baseball. And it would leave enough of the season to try and pass Plank's mark.

"Up to Spahn," said Manager Birdie Tebbetts as he explained he has set up the rotation to give the 41-year-old Spahn every chance for a record.

"He will go again Saturday," Tebbetts said, "because there is always the chance of a rainout Sunday, the last day of the season. And should it rain Saturday, he would get a shot at it on the last day, again weather permitting."

Spahn, 16-14, will be opposed tonight by Jay Hook, 8-18. The Braves and Mets wind up their season affairs Wednesday night. And on Friday the Pirates arrive for the season's final series.

There's little chance that Spahn can reach the 20 or more victories mark for the 13th time, but he can become one of the few pitchers ever to boast an earned run average of less than 3.00 for nine seasons.

Aaron Has 43 HRs

Hank Aaron has piled by 43 home runs and still has a chance to grab the National League honors away from Willie Mays who has 45. One more and Aaron will tie his major league high.

Eddie Mathews has 28 homers and needs just two to reach a total of 30 in a single season for the 10th time, and the 10th year in a row. If he makes it, he'll be extending his own major league record.

The Braves, who have won three in a row and seven of their last eight games, still have not tied a bow on fifth place. They'll open tonight 2 1/2 games ahead of the St. Louis Cardinals.

QUARTERBACK CLUB TO SEE LAWRENCE, AHS GAME FILMS

Films of the Appleton High-Green Bay West and Lawrence College-Cornell football games will be shown at the meeting of the Appleton Quarterback Club at 7:30 p.m. today at Jefferson School.

Coaches Ade Dillon of AHS and Bernie Heselson of Lawrence will offer commentaries on the films.

Tom Disbrow, 190-Pound junior tackle from Janesville, will see action for Lawrence College in Saturday's football invasion of Knox. Disbrow and his Viking mates beat Cornell, 17-8, in the opener. (Post-Crescent Photo)

DE PERE — Abbot Pennings Squires came from behind in the second half Monday night in Minahan Stadium to win their first game since 1960.

The Squires, behind the running of halfback Bill Franken and the passing of Quarterback Steve Nicks, defeated the Dutchmen of Little Chute St. John, 12-6.

Although the statistics showed the Dutchmen had the advantage, the spunky Squires made use of a Little Chute fumble deep in their own territory, late in the third period to score.

The Dutchmen gained a total of 220 yards, compared to 135 by the Squires. Jay Lamers, the hard hitting 235-pound Dutchman fullback, gained 92 yards in 20 carries while Larry Van Lankvelt gained 73 yards in nine attempts. He produced the longest run of the evening at 29 yards, it came in the second period on the Dutchmen's lone touchdown drive.

Keeps Drive Alive

For the Squires, Franken pounded away for 67 yards in 13 attempts. Nicks passed for 31 yards, completing four out of nine tosses, one of them a crucial fourth down pass to Dennis Danden to keep the Squires touchdown drive alive in the fourth quarter.

The Dutchmen, after receiving the opening kick-off, moved the ball to their 35 yard line. On a fashioning his 33-1 record. His only loss was an eight-round decision to Marty Marshall, whom he later twice defeated. Thus Arkansas-born challenger fights out of Philadelphia, by way of St. Louis where his boxing career virtually hung in police balance.

Patterson to Defend Title Against Liston

Patterson owns 29 KO's in a pro career man have criticized as being a crusade against cheese.

But Patterson, who lives in Scarsdale, N.Y., came back from his stunning dethroning by Johansson to become the first heavyweight ever to win back the title in a second bout with the Swede and then polished off Johansson in a third meeting at Miami Beach, March 13, 1961.

Patterson has it made, financially speaking, win or lose against Liston—who gets a modest 12½ per cent of everything, perhaps a maximum of $400,000.

Patterson's estimated $17 million swag would put him ahead of the $990,445 Gene Tunney received in outpointing Jack Dempsey in their classic "long-count" title in Chicago's Soldier Field Sept. 22, 1927.

Return Bout

He also has a victorious Liston bound to give him a return bout within a year at a 30-30 percentage of receipts.

Patterson's contract with the sponsoring Championship Sports, Inc. calls for payment of tonight's purse extended over a 17-year period. Whether this is acceptable to the Internal Revenue Service is yet to be determined.

Patterson's appearance marks the ninth time he has fought with the heavyweight title at stake, putting him behind only Joe Louis, the all-time leader with 27, and Ezzard Charles with 13.

The bout will be judged on the Illinois 5-point must system, scored by two judges and a referee to be named at ringside. Best guess for the referee's job is veteran Frank Sikora, who handled the 1956 bout when Patterson, at a precedent-shattering age of 21, captured the heavyweight title by knocking out light heavyweight champion Archie Moore. That bout, for Rocky Marciano's vacated crown, was fought in Chicago Stadium.

Title Fight Brings New Year's Eve Atmosphere to London

LONDON (AP)—Indications are that Great Britain is in for a nationwide headache on Wednesday.

The entire country is excited about the Floyd Patterson-Sonny Liston world heavyweight title fight in Chicago Tuesday night. The bout will start at 3:30 a.m. London time, and thousands of Britons have arranged for parties along New Year's Eve lines.

Many hotels are sold out, especially those who provide a radio in each room. The fight will be broadcast direct from ringside. Liston is the 2-1 favorite to dethrone Patterson.

Marv DeBruin Bowls 566 in Little Chute

Robert Coenen rolled a 233 game, and Marv DeBruin rapped a 506 series to share honors in the Businessmen's Bowling League at Little Chute Recreation.

Other high scores were hit by Ken DeBruin (565) and Tony Wyngaard (560.)

Roger Sprangers rapped a 244 game and a 575 set to pace the Darboy Bowling League at the Bowling Bar, Kaukauna.

Mary Williamsen hit a 506 series for the lone honor score in the KRA Couples Fish League at Jerry's Lanes, Kimberly.

Alabama First In Grid Poll

Ohio State Rated Second By AP Board

BY JIM HACKLEMAN

Alabama, national champion last year and a runaway winner in its 1962 opener Saturday, is back on top today in the first Associated Press poll of the college football season.

Bama took the No. 1 ranking away from Ohio State, the leader in the pre-season ratings but untested so far this fall. The Crimson Tide trailed in the first place votes cast by AP's nationwide board of selectors, 19-14, but was more solidly supported otherwise and had a 342-298 edge in points.

Following Bama and Ohio State in the voting, in order, were Texas, Penn State, Louisiana State, Michigan State, Mississippi, Georgia Tech, Southern California and Missouri. The first seven all made the pre-season listings while Georgia Tech, Southern Cal and Missouri supplanted Purdue, Duke and Washington.

Alabama, which lost quarterback Pat Tammell through graduation and fullback star Mike Fracchia because of a leg injury, could've been headed for a troublesome campaign—but apparently isn't. The Tide unveiled a quarterback sensation in sophomore Joe Namath last Saturday night and trounced Southeastern Conference rival Georgia 35-0.

Patterson Has Same Problem

Most Champs Waited a Long Time Before Being Called 'Great'

BY JOE MOOSHILL

CHICAGO (AP)—Heavyweight champion Floyd Patterson's attempt to achieve the mark of greatness during his reign appears futile even if he should defeat challenger Sonny Liston tonight.

It just isn't meant to be. And Patterson shouldn't feel he is being persecuted by his generation. After all, why should Patterson be an exception. Such ring immortals as Jack Dempsey, Joe Louis, Gene Tunney and Jack Johnson had to wait to be eulogized as great champions.

Although Rocky Marciano has been retired for more than six years after an undefeated career, he is only presently and slowly being mentioned as an outstanding titleholder. In years to come, Marciano will rank with the others. It's all a matter of time.

Johnson's activities outside the ring didn't set too well with the public and during his fighting days there was always some question about his courage under fire.

Dempsey constantly was accused of being afraid to fight Harry Wills. And not until his "long count" defeat to Tunney in Chicago 35 years ago this month did the Manassa Mauler become a ring martyr.

Even to this day, Tunney resents the tag of "powder puff puncher" which the critics made way to becoming the No. 1 contender. Tunney ranks among the greats to be sure. But not because of the usual fistic prowess attached to a heavyweight champion. He read Shakespeare and he used brains instead of brawn.

Louis took on all comers, anyone who dared to step in the ring with him. So what happened. His opponents were called burns and after each one was dragged out of the ring he became a member of Louis' "Bum of the Month Club."

And now comes Patterson, the youngest man ever to win the coveted title and the only one to lose and regain it. When Floyd defeated Archie Moore for Marciano's vacated title, the critics said he defeated an old man. Until that fight, Archie was called the "ageless marvel of the ring." Today he's still an outstanding boxer.

Baseball Scout Cambria Dies; Never Gave Players a Bonus

BALTIMORE (AP)—Joe Cambria, the veteran baseball scout who died Monday in Minneapolis, used to boast that he signed more than 500 players to professional contracts without ever offering a bonus.

"I never gave anybody a nickel bonus," Cambria said last October, when he visited Baltimore for a hospital checkup. "I don't believe in making a boy a financial success before he starts."

"A big bonus puts too much pressure on the player and the scout," he said. "You can't see what's in a boy's head. The ball is round, the bat is round, but sometimes the head is flat."

Boxing Personalities Give Views

Rocky Marciano Says Contrast in Styles Makes Title Fight a Tossup

CHICAGO (AP) — Here's how the boxing-world personalities look at the Floyd Patterson-Sonny Liston heavyweight title fight:

Rocky Marciano — "If I were fighting Patterson, I would swarm all over him in one of the corners and try to knock him out. If I let him stay in the center of the ring, I'd be in trouble. Against Liston, I'd try to get inside and whack him around the body until he tired and then I'd go for the head. The big problem would be escaping that terrific left jab. Their contrasting styles make it a toss-up."

Ingemar Johansson — "If you don't go in after Patterson, he will come after you. I think he will have to try and stay on top of Liston. Sonny is big and strong, but if you put him on the defensive, he closes up a little."

Jim Braddock — "If Floyd keeps sort of moving to Sonny's right all the time, Liston won't be able to land that left and he might get a little panicky and start to press. This fight could go 15 rounds, and if it does, Floyd has got to outbox him."

Jack Dempsey — "I have leaned toward Liston, but if Floyd comes in at 185-187 pounds, he will have the speed and enough punching power to cut Liston down."

Doc Kearns — "I'm not so sure about the big guy, but Patterson might be able to hit harder."

Ezzard Charles — "It should be a good, close fight but I can't predict the winner."

Joe Louis — "If I were in my prime, I would plan to use only two kinds of punches against Paterson—left jab and right cross. I would try to hustle him and make him circle to his left, his weak side. He can be hit then. He's better going to his right to use his left book skill, sometimes savagely. "I would not jab with Liston because that possibly is what he does best. I would try to keep him off balance and fight in a semi-crouch. I would hit him with left, or right, hooks to the body, not concentrating on one big punch to the chin until maybe the fifth round. "Against either man, I would not expect an early knockout." Archie Moore — "I like Patterson."

Cassius Clay — "My prediction is Liston."

Sugar Ray and Terry Downes Battle in Non-Title Affair

LONDON (AP) — Sugar Ray Robinson steps back into a London ring tonight for the first time since he lost his world middleweight title to Britain's Randy Turpin in another London ring 11 years ago.

Turpin lost the crown to Robinson in a return Sept. 12 the same year in New York on a 10th round knockout.

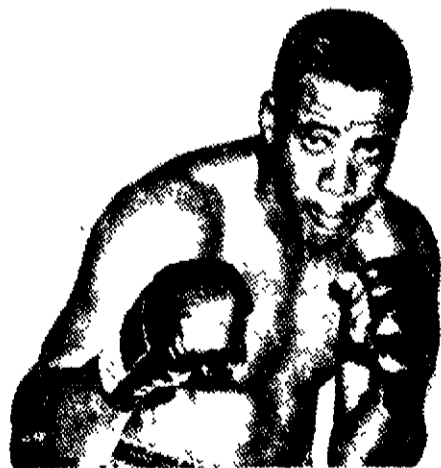

Now, 11 years later British fans want to see Sugar Ray again in action. That's why a sell-out crowd of 14,000 will be at Wembley's Auditorium for the non-title 10-rounder from all sides against British champion Terry Downes.

Downes has had only 37 fights. He's lost eight of them—two to American Paul Pender in disputed world title fights or the middleweight crown. In between Robinson, now 42, has tackled Downes defeated Pender.

Getting $28,000 Robinson is getting $28,000 for the fight. Downes receives just a little less.

'We Won That One on Effort,' Says McPeak

'Skins Prepare For Cardinal Game Sunday

WASHINGTON (AP)—"We won that one on effort," said Coach Bill McPeak today. "We still have a lot of improvement to come on our execution."

He was speaking of Washington's stunning 17-16 upset of Cleveland Sunday that left the Redskins basking in unaccustomed glory on top of the Eastern Conference of the National Football League.

McPeak probably had halfback Bobby Mitchell in mind in speaking of effort. Mitchell was knocked down by a linebacker, then scrambled up to take a pass for the touchdown that beat his old Brown teammates.

And it's likely McPeak also was thinking about quarterback Nor-

'I'm a Lover, Not a Fighter,' Declares Green Bay's Jordan

GREEN BAY (AP)—The Green Bay Packers' Henry Jordan says "I'm a lover, not a fighter."

The 245 pound Jordan was one of the defensive mainstays as the defending National Football League Packers took their second victory by beating the St. Louis Cardinals 17-0 Sunday.

The defensive showing was by way of keeping a promise assistant coach Norb Hecker made a week earlier after the Packers won their opener by beating the Minnesota Vikings 34-7.

When Head Coach Vince Lombardi observed that his champions "weren't very consistent," Hecker promised, "We'll get better."

It would take a lot of searching to find a better pro defense than the Packers had against the Cardinals. The Cards were held without a point, gained only 16 yards on the ground and got nine of 11 first downs on passes that gained 156 yards.

"We take pride in our work," said Jordan. "We're tired of hearing how good some other defense is supposed to be. We expect to be the best."

Cites Example

He cited an example, recalling Bill Rieken's 227 game and Ray Ruffing's 597 set led the way in the Businessmen's circuit at Michael's Bowl, Sherwood.

Rieken finished with a 583 set while Ruffing's high game was a 225.

On the next play Jordan blasted the Cardinals with a 10-yard pass.

Colorado Keeps Sophomore at No. 1 Quarterback Spot

Only 5 of 14 New Major College Coaches Victorious in First Try

BY JACK CLARY
Associated Press Sports Writer

If at first you don't succeed—and eight of college football's new coaches didn't in their first efforts last Saturday — there's always next week.

Fourteen new coaches had their first licks last weekend, and only back quarterback Dan Keating, five emerged victorious, with Kentucky's Charley Bradshaw getting off with a scoreless tie against Florida State.

For the eight losers, it is back to the practice field today for full-scale preparations for this weekend, and an attempt to rectify last week's mistakes. For the five winners, it's also back to the practice field and added intensity on avoiding the losing pattern.

Colorado Coach Bud Davis, whose Buffalos were beaten by Utah 37-21, has moved Leon Maivity into the flanker back post for injured Ted Somerville as he preps for Kansas State. Davis kept soph quarterback Larry Elridge at the No. 1 post, after he completed 11 of 18 passes as a replacement for the injured Frank Cesarek.

Bob Devaney called off all scrimmages sessions for his Nebraska team this week, after a 53-0 victory over South Dakota took too great a toll of injuries. Included on the hurt list were fullback Thunder Thornton, ends Jim first down situation, the Squires' Jerry Wieland, picked off a Dan Hurst pass and the Squires had the ball on the Dutchman 37. The Squires stalled and lost the ball on downs on the 8.

In the second quarter, the Dutchmen after receiving a punt, on their 45 moved 55 yards in 10 plays for the first score of the game. It came on a 2-yard plunge by Lamers with 6:05 left in the quarter. Jerry Vebeten missed the extra point. The half ended with the Dutchmen out in front, 6 to 0.

Paul Coenen took Lamers' opening kick-off in the second half on the Squire 14 and returned for 7 yards. The St. John defense held and the Squires were forced to punt. Neither team was able to pose a real threat until first fumbled by the Dutchmen on their own 17-yard line late in the period. Dan Franken made the recovery for the Squires.

On the first play, Bradley Nuss hit for 2 yards up the middle and then Bill Franken slid off right tackle for the score with 55 seconds remaining in the third period. Tom Oettinger's try for the extra point was wide to the left and the quarter ended in a 6-6 tie.

Forced to Punt

Early in the fourth quarter, the Dutchmen stalled and were forced to kick. The Squires downed the ball on their 38 and moved 67 yards in 12 plays for what proved to be the winning score. Nicks kept the ball on the ground with Bill Franken and Nuss alternating. The Dutchmen dug in and stalled the Squires on their 24 yard line. Nicks, on a fourth down situation tossed to Danen for 17 yards to the 7 yard stripe for the first down. On the next play, Franken weaved around end for the score with 4:48 left in the game. Oettinger's try for the extra point was blocked.

The Dutchmen, with a never-say-die attitude, moved 60 yards in nine plays from their 38 yard line to the Squire two, only to lose the ball on a fourth down and one, as the Squires held Hurst for no gain on a quarterback sneak. The Squires gained control and ate up the time.

Casey Stengel Signs to Pilot Mets in 1963

Cites Double Play Combination as One of Many Needs

NEW YORK (AP)—At 72, and with another dreary season ahead in 1963, Casey Stengel admitted today that after a half century in baseball he's still learning.

"Ya, know," he croaked solemnly, "when I beat the Cards a couple of times during the spring I thought I had some sort of pitching staff. I learned one thing—I'll never go by what I see in spring training again."

Stengel signed Monday for another year at the helm of the hapless New York Mets, who currently are working on all sorts of records in reverse with a dismal 39-116 record.

"Another thing," he went on, warming up to the subject, "I'm not listening to players any more when they tell me they can make it up here. No, since they can't fool me anymore when they tell me their old club didn't like them, that they didn't like living in the other city and all that stuff."

There aren't too many things Casey could be thankful for during the current misery, but he allowed as how he was glad his men didn't spend their energies arguing with the umpires.

"Just as well," he rasped. "We'd probably have won only 15."

Too Many Problems

Problems to be solved. Too many to list in one day. Some of the main ones:

"Well, for one thing we need the double play," he offered. "I had it for a month with Charlie Neal and Rod Kanehl and then it blew up (Neal was injured)."

"We gotta be real strong up the middle, at shortstop, second base and center field and we need guys who can get the ball away fast."

"And we gotta be braver at bat. We got too many guys who go tra-la-la after they strike out like it all happened so much before."

RETAILING OFFERS WOMEN CHANCE TO GET TO TOP

DEAR CY: There is a lot of noise being made these days to the effect women might get as much money as men for doing the same work. The politicians and lobbyists for business would probably kill any bill before it ever gets voted on. Already they are making a lot of excuses why it is impossible to give women equal wages and rights. I have worked in numerous jobs in different industries, and should know the situation. I have talked to a lot of people about this. No one has ever been able to tell me one single case where a woman can have equal job opportunities with men.

UNCONVINCED

Maybe you never gave your listeners a chance. In retailing, a woman can go to the top. Lack of a college education is no deterrent. A recent Illinois Retail Merchants association survey showed executive positions in retailing were divided almost 50-50 for men and women. And... these women in retailing were getting equal pay.

Bruhn Reports 2 Promotions

Badger Coach Begins To Install Offense For Season Opener

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin football Coach Milt Bruhn announced two promotions to the first string and two new injuries Monday.

He also began installing the offense for the season opener next Saturday against New Mexico State here.

Bruhn said that sophomore halfback Ron Smith and left tackle Lee Bernet had been moved up to the first team.

Smith, of East Chicago, showed brilliant open field running in last Saturday's scrimmage. He replaces veteran Gary Kroner, who was dropped in the third team. Speedster Bill Smith, a defensive specialist, continues in the second place.

Bernet, of Chicago, also earned his starting job in last Saturday's scrimmage, replacing letterman Roger Pillath. Bernet weighs in at 247 pounds.

As Bruhn began unfolding the offense the Badgers will use against the Aggies, there was every indication that Ron Vanderkelen of Preble will be the starting quarterback. The quarterback corps was given a long workout in Monday's drill.

Reserve fullback Jerry McKinney of Milwaukee underwent surgery for torn knee ligaments Monday and will be lost for the remainder of the season. Bill Smith sat out the drill with a bruised shoulder.

DEAR GRETTA: I am grateful for your sentiments, but interviews rob other readers of the time I take studying their problems. Have a friend or local organization, like Family Service, help you write me. As other readers do... send as many letters in my direction as you like, through your newspaper.

Noted Organist to Give Solo Recital at DePere

Anton Heiller on First U. S. Tour,
Concert at St. Norbert Abbey Church

One of Europe's outstanding post war organists, Anton Heiller of Vienna, will play a solo recital on the St. Norbert Abbey church organ Thursday evening. His appearance here will afford area organ enthusiasts a rare opportunity to hear one of the world's finest console artists on his first visit to this country. Recital time is 8:15 p.m.

Heiller, who made his first trip to America to attend the annual convention of the American Guild of Organists in July, is now on a recital tour. He caused a sensation at the Los Angeles convention, especially with his skill at improvising.

A native of Vienna, Heiller reached maturity during World War II, was forced to interrupt his career while serving in the German Army, then made rapid strides despite the devastation of the beaten Third Reich. Something of a child prodigy, he began his music studies at 6 and was composing by the time he was 12.

Heiller entered the Vienna Academy of Music after graduation from high school in 1941 and took his final examinations for organ and harpsichord a year later with a prize for composition. After a short period as a choir-master with the Vienna Municipal Opera, he was drafted and served until the end of World War II.

While in uniform he continued to compose, and in 1945 became professor of organ at the Vienna Academy. For a few years he taught both organ and harpsichord (he's also one of the world's best players of the latter) but gradually concentrated on organ. This concentration also nipped a budding career as an operatic conductor.

Like America's E. Power Biggs (who played at the Abbey last season) Heiller "collects" organs. Since 1945 he has toured all over western Europe and has played virtually every instrument of stature. Among other distinctions, he was the first Austrian organist to play in England since Anton Bruckner.

Composer of Note
In addition to his wide repertory of Baroque organ music which has made him a leading interpreter of the South German or Viennese school, Heiller has continued his composing. He has published much instrumental music and has achieved international recognition for his choral works among them an oratorio titled "Francisco Villon."

Although he has not previously appeared in the United States, his reputation has preceded him through recordings. Heiller has recorded all the organ music of Bach as well as harpsichord works of Bach, Handel, Couperin and Rameau.

This Abbey recital will be large devoted to the Austrian Baroque period, at which his former pupil, Mrs. Miriam Clapp Duncan of Lawrence College, rates him "superb." Among the composers of the 17th Century to be heard are Georg Muffat, Johann Kasper Keill and Johann Pachelbel, as well as the modern Johann David. The program will conclude with a series of Heiller's own improvisations.

Girl Scout Roundup Tops TV Programs

Loretta Young and Family Make Debut In Amusing Show

BY CYNTHIA LOWRY
NEW YORK (AP)—Well those double doors finally opened again after all the months and Loretta Young whirled out and introduced us to her new series.

Miss Young's new CBS show is a continuing story about a widow—played by Miss Young of course—and her seven children. The first show Monday night was amusing and highly improbable but served to introduce the large family. It was played mostly for laughs.

It was a rather pleasant beginning—for the feminine audience anyway. Miss Young does dress so well.

High point of the evening however, was "The Road to Bufton Bay," a warm, loving and brilliantly executed documentary film about last summer's senior Girl Scout roundup in Vermont. Producer Robert Drew chose three girls, every one a charmer, and followed them from their Kansas homes through the entire Girl Scout gathering.

It was a perfectly delightful hour. And what do you know? CBS quietly went ahead and showed it in color.

CBS' other special was "Open Night," boasting five big stars—Lucille Ball, Jack Benny, Danny Thomas, Andy Griffith and Garry Moore. Unfortunately they had pretty feeble comedy material but tried valiantly for laughs. It was actually less a variety hour than a pump-priming operation. All the stars have a sponsor in common and the sponsor took the occasion to get his five expensive investments off to a good seasonal start with a big television promotion.

Athlete's Foot Cases Not Always the Same

BY JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.
Dear Dr. Molner: Having been afflicted with athlete's foot at one time adds for various remedies catch my eye—and I found all of them abso-lutely useless. It was my good fortune to be given a solution by a podiatrist about 10 years ago and I was amazed to find the athlete's foot completely eliminated after one application.

With a sure-fire product like this one on the market, I'm surprised at the claims of other so-called athlete's foot cures or nostrums—

Basic Weaknesses
You must be a newcomer to my group, or you'd know my answer to this. Patent medicines have two basic weaknesses. First, they must be innocuous, and hence often not very effective, before they are approved for sale. Second, patent medicines are mostly bought by people who make a flying guess at what ails them. They may be right or they may be wrong, and if they are wrong in guessing the nature of the disease, they are pretty certain to select the wrong patent medicine.

In your case, after spending considerable money on patent medicines you somehow had the good fortune to encounter a podiatrist who, being trained in care of the feet, gave you a remedy that corrected your trouble. That's no proof that the remedy would be as you put it, "sure-fire" for everybody else who has something wrong with the skin of the feet. In the last few years some new drugs have been developed for such skin diseases that are superb—provided you apply the right medicine to the right ailment.

Itchy Affliction
Athlete's foot is a general term meaning that some sort of itchy affliction has you in a toe-hold. In some very comprehensive health books you don't even find the term listed, other books explain that there are several organisms that can cause the trouble, and that there are other diseases which resemble this ailment.

Some of the patent medicines will control some mild varieties of the ailment. I suppose that most of the nostrums will help some body. And it's a goal of freedom to let people do what they want to, so long as they don't hurt other people. From that standpoint I agree with letting some people sell and other people buy patent medicines.

Surest, Cheapest Way
But if I had a case of one of the ailments called athlete's foot, I'd choose the quickest and surest and cheapest way of curing it. I'd

Seniors Selected For Flag Honors

CHILTON—Chilton High School students have selected a senior boy and girl to serve as flag-raisers during the school year. Named to the honor were John Liska and Linda Gordon. Selection begins with a slate of six boys and six girls prepared by the student council. The slate is then narrowed to four boys and four girls with a general election determining the winners.

Liska, son of Ed Liska, Chilton, is active in athletics and other school activities. Miss Gordon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Gordon, is a class officer, a cheerleader, and has participated in dramatics, forensics and other school activities.

NOTE TO R. T. C.: Yes it's entirely possible to be allergic to the sun. This is not common, but leader, and has participated in it's not unknown by any means.

Former Neenah Drug Store Operator Dies

NEENAH — Charles F. Schultz, 82 of 113 Elm St., a druggist in Neenah for 58 years, died at 6 p.m. Monday after a short illness.

He had started in the drug business in Neenah with his brother the late Emil Schultz in 1904 the same year the Rexall Co. with which his store was associated was founded. At one time the Schultz brothers operated three drug stores in Neenah and Menasha. He was still active in the business operation with his son Albert C. Schultz at 121 W. Wisconsin Ave.

'Prayers Answered'

Rural Oshkosh Paratrooper Among Those Rescued From Ditched Plane

OSHKOSH — "All I can say is that our prayers were answered and we never gave up hope. He certainly is lucky to be alive."

With those words Mrs. George C. Brown, route 5, Oshkosh, summed up her reaction to a Monday night telegram which informed her family that her son George V. Brown, 19, was among the survivors of a Sunday airliner crash in the North Atlantic. News reports indicated 49 passengers were rescued with 13 missing and 16 missing.

The Brown family had been informed earlier — about 5:30 a.m. Monday — that their son was among at least 76 persons missing in a Flying Tiger airliner crash in the Atlantic about 500 miles west of Ireland.

At 7:30 p.m. Monday, however, the Browns received a telegram noting that their son was definitely among those plucked out of the Atlantic by rescuers. The late-called son about a week ago saying for communication read:

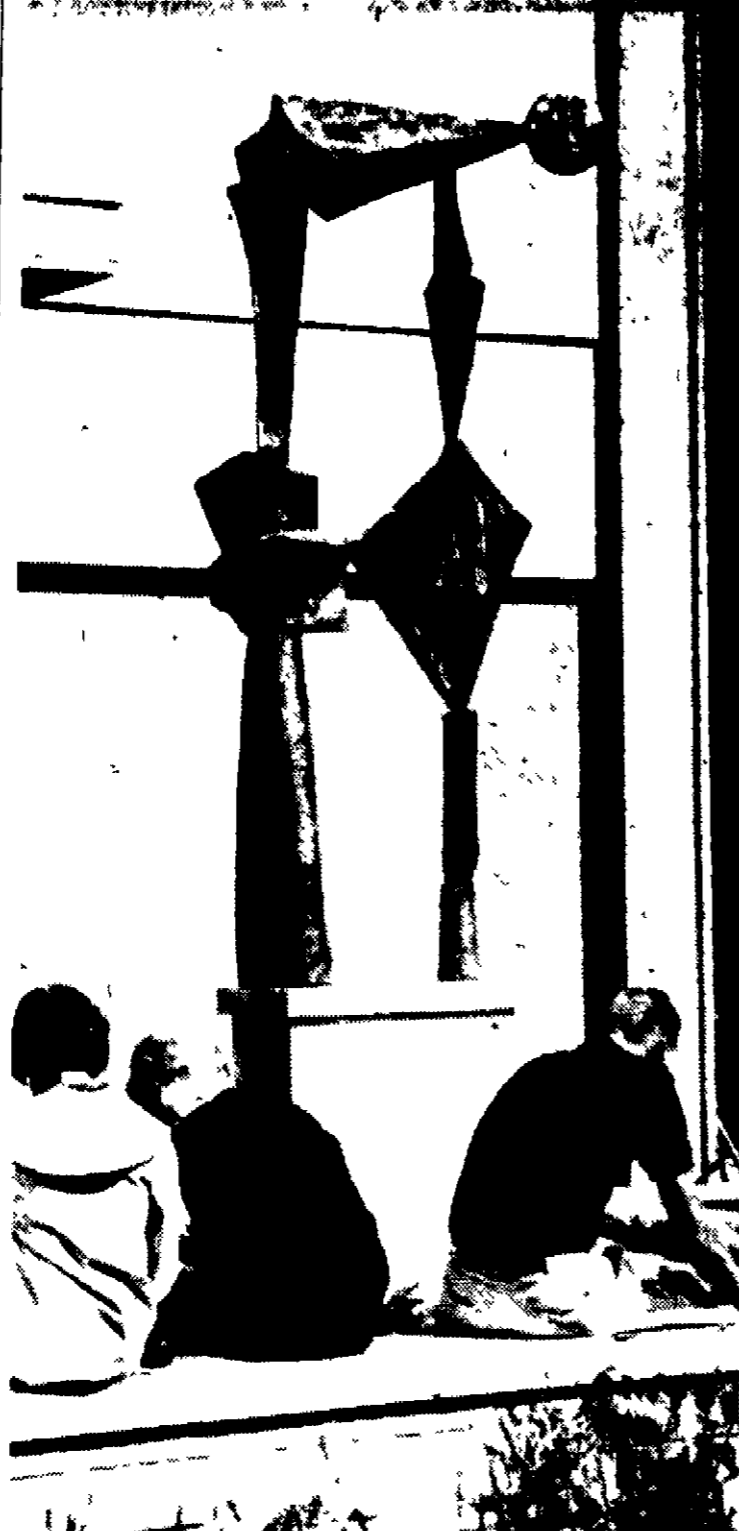

"Safe and on Canadian aircraft carrier Bonaventure. I proceeded to Shannon, Ireland, to arrive on Sept. 26. All my love. George."

My husband and our 18-year-old married daughter Carol all felt that George would make it if he got out of the plane without being too seriously injured," she said. "I guess it's because we felt that his experience as an avid hunter and fisherman would be of invaluable help."

"'Lucky Boy'"

"But then too George is a bit lucky," she hastened to add. "Why only a short time ago he narrowly escaped death during training as a paratrooper at Fort Benning, Ga. On his third jump six months ago his term of enlistment was set at three years. He related, 'his main chute failed to open and he had to revert to his manually operated emergency parachute. Luckily,' she laughed, 'that opened before he hit the ground.'"

"What really came as a shock to all of us was that George was

AMERICA'S MOST CAREFULLY BUILT CAR

To everyone who plans to buy an Imperial, Cadillac or Lincoln this year

If you'd like the best perspective on what your next luxury car can offer, begin with a drive in the new Imperial — first luxury car having its power train warranted* for five years or 50,000 miles.

Your Imperial dealer is ready to furnish one of his new models for your comparison. You'll find Imperial is designed for spaciousness and luxury on the grand scale. Imperial's town-car look is deliberately restrained — and timeless. But its famous roadability is evidence of very timely advances in high performance power and the largest automatic-adjusting brake system in any American luxury car.

After you've tested and inspected and compared, we'd like your personal judgment of our major premise: that Imperial's differences afford important motoring qualities not found in either Cadillac or Lincoln.

So accept our friendly challenge, please. We're confident that driving an Imperial will influence your ideas about what a luxury car should be and should do.

*Your authorized Imperial Dealer's Warranty against defects in material and workmanship on 1963 cars has been expanded to include parts replacement or repair for 9 years or 50,000 miles, whichever comes first, on the engine block, head and internal parts, transmission case and internal parts, torque converter, drive shaft, universal joints (excluding dust covers), rear axle and differential, and rear wheel bearings, provided the vehicle has been serviced at reasonable intervals according to the Chrysler Certified Car Care schedule. Factory approved remainufactured parts may be used for replacement.
